OAK VICTIM, HOUSE SURVIVES

Sturdy oak tree that stubbornly refused to bend before fury of storm was ignominiously uprooted, dumped on stone walls of residence of Mrs. Pearl

Bjornson, Tattersal Drive, with little damage. Oak was one of many trees and branches dashed to ground during high winds. (Times Photo.)

Freezing Winds Rip City—More to Come

WIRE BRIEFS

'Boxcar' Crash Kills 5

HILL AIR FORCE BASE, Utah (AP)—A C119 flying boxcar crashed and burned near here today, killing five crewmen and stranding wreckage between two houses only 30 feet apart.

No Hope for Boys

CLEARFIELD, Pa. (AP)—Officials directing a seven-day search for two boys in an abandoned clay mine apparently gave up hope today that the boys will be found alive.

Guard Triggers Mine

BERLIN (AP)—An East German border guard accidentally detonated a land mine in the Communist "death strip" outside the border of Berlin today, Western police reported. The guard apparently was killed by the explosion.

Violence Alert

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI)—A government communique that two divisions will be pulled out of Algeria within the next 10 days despite the murderous wave of terrorism this month kept French security forces on the alert today for renewed violence.

Freezing winds slashing across the Victoria area in gusts up to 74 miles an hour Friday night shattered windows, lifted roofs, felled trees, and caused general discomfort as the temperature dropped to 21.5 above.

There'll be more of the same over the weekend, most likely longer, although winds are moderating to the 20 mile per hour range. Low temperatures tonight and high Sunday will be from 20 to 30 degrees.

The long-range, 30-day outlook of the United States weather bureau predicts continued below-normal temperatures for all of western Canada, including southern B.C.

Only injury during the windstorm Friday was to Gertrude Chitty, 77, of 3000 Carol Street, who suffered slight leg and face injuries when she was blown against a power pole.

WINDOWS SHATTERED

Several business establishments had plate glass windows blown in, including Standard Furniture, McLaren Electric, Foul Bay Safeway, Metropolitan Store, and Fernwood garage.

B.C. Electric power lines were cut in the Uplands, on Cedar Hill Cross Road near Redwood, on Torquay, and scattered areas at Ten Mile Point and between Langford and Colwood.

Phones were out in widely scattered areas, largely due to local interruptions caused by branches falling across lead-in wires.

Radio station CKDA went off the air at 6:32 p.m., when a 74-mile-per-hour gust knocked its tower on the alert today for renewed violence.

seas, engineers delayed the trip to the island for repairs until dawn. The station resumed broadcasting at 6 a.m.

The winds were indirectly blamed for causing tiles to fall off a ceiling at Mount Douglas High School. Building experts explained the wind causes air pressures to build up between ceiling joists, loosening the tiles.

Roof damage was most severe in the Gordon Head-Ten Mile Point area, where roofing was stripped from the homes of Dr. Harry Morgan and Barrie Gault, both of Smuggler's Cove residents.

From late afternoon to after midnight, winds rarely dropped below 40, with prolonged bursts at 60 common.

All of southwest B.C. was in the grip of the prolonged cold spell.

Vancouver had its coldest night in almost five years when the temperature dropped to 8.8 degrees above zero.

RETRIAL

Conviction of former U.S. Teamster leader Dave Beck on charges of evading federal income taxes was reversed today by U.S. court of appeals in San Francisco. The charges were ordered to be retried.

Big Gambling Raid

READING, Pa. (UPI)—FBI agents, armed with sledgehammers and automatic rifles, knocked down the doors of a little-used building early today and broke up a high-powered dice game in one of the largest gambling raids ever made on the east coast.

SHE STAMPED HERSELF

Mrs. Wood Can't Go Parcel Post

LONDON (Reuters)—A woman who tried to mail herself to the postmaster-general in protest against current postal delays in Britain was told the post office no longer accepted human parcels.

Mrs. Gertrude Wood, protesting against the work-to-rule slowdown by postal workers to back pay demands, walked into a London post office Thursday with a large placard around her neck addressed to Postmaster-General Reginald Bevins at the House of Commons, but was turned away.

Before the Second World War a person could "post" himself for sixpence as an express delivery and be escorted on

HIT TREE

City Man Dies From Car Crash

A shattering crash on Shelbourne Street about midnight Friday resulted in the death today of a 31-year-old father of three.

Irvin Le Bus, an HMC Dockyard fireman of 1590 Mortimer, was the first traffic fatality of 1962 in the Greater Victoria area.

The victim's car crashed into a tree on Shelbourne near the intersection with Cedar Glen Road, and was wrecked.

Impact of the collision threw Mr. Le Bus halfway through the windshield and trapped him there. He was alone in the car at the time.

JAMMED TIGHT

It took four firemen and police armed with crowbars and other equipment to free the driver. Sanich police took him to Royal Jubilee Hospital with head injuries.

He died at 8:45.

Cause of the accident has not been determined.

Mr. Le Bus is survived at home by the widow, Ethel; two boys, Eddie, seven, and Billy, five; and a daughter, Sandra, who is just three.

Also surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Le Bus, Victoria; five brothers: Cyril of Victoria, George of the Antilles, Frank of Vancouver, and Douglas and Orrie, both of Victoria; three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Patterson, Mrs. Elva Bryant and Mrs. Agnes Poulsen, all of Victoria; and nieces and nephews.

A native of the city, Mr. Le Bus was a member of Columbia Lodge No. 2, IOOF, and Court Victoria, IOF.

Man Killed Near Nanaimo

One man was killed and another seriously injured in a two-car collision near Nanaimo late Friday night.

Dead is 32-year-old John Denham McLean, 480 Lambert Street, Nanaimo.

He died instantly when his car crashed into a car driven by Ben Anderson, R.R. 2, Duncan.

Mr. Anderson was taken to Nanaimo General Hospital. His condition today is reported to be good.

The accident occurred at 11:15 p.m. on the Trans-Canada Highway about eight miles south of Nanaimo.

McLean was alone in his car and was travelling north when the smashup occurred, near Cassidy Airport.

Mr. Anderson, who was also travelling alone, was on his way to Duncan. Both men are married.

CONGO TROOPS FIRE AT UN PATROL PLANES

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—Marauding Congolese soldiers in northern Katanga today fired at two UN Indian jets sent to confirm reports they had slain a second group of Roman Catholic missionaries at Sola and ravaged the nearby native villages.

A UN spokesman said the Indian Canberra jets were on a reconnaissance flight in the Kongo-Sola area when the hostile troops opened fire. When fired at, the planes were sweeping low over a column of troops marching toward Kongo along the road from Kilubi. The jets were not hit and did not return the fire.

DEATH SCREAMS HEARD

5 Tots Burned At Alert Bay

The screams of five doomed children trapped in a burning home Friday night at Alert Bay could be heard by helpless bystanders over the roar and crackle of flames, witnesses reported today at the north coast community.

The tragedy might have been averted except for a misunderstanding which possibly meant the difference between life and death for the children.

The local fire department, which prides itself on its efficiency, is called by a siren sounded by volunteers on duty around the clock.

CURFEW REVIVED

However, last Monday a children's curfew which had not been used for six months was revived, and Friday night only two of the 13 local volunteer firemen answered the fire call. The remaining men confused it with the curfew, and 10 minutes were wasted before the situation was straightened out.

RCMP have not yet released the names of the victims, since all next of kin have not yet been notified. Police said the children included a girl of 15 months and four boys ranging in age from six months to five years.

Addicts Suspected In Vancouver Holdup

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three men, two of them armed, held up a Vancouver wholesale jewelry firm today and escaped with diamonds and jewelry the proprietor said was worth between $20,000 and $30,000.

Thomas Hawken, proprietor of Hawken and Company, said the men wore stocking masks. One carried a sawed-off shotgun and another a pistol.

He said one man kept repeating: "I need a fix"—apparently meaning narcotics.

Police in a recent crackdown on the narcotics racket here arrested a total of 34 suspected traffickers. Addicts here were described as worried about getting supplies, even at an increased price.

Police said all three of the men were between 20 and 23 years of age and sent out a city-wide alarm for them.

The operator of a cigar stand at the entrance to the building where the wholesale jewelry establishment is located on the third floor told police three men ran from the building carrying a white bag.

New Hopes For Liberal Recount Win

TORONTO (UPI)—Ontario Liberal hopes of adding more glitter to their 3:2 upset of the ruling Conservative hierarchy in Thursday's five-day by-election test soared today.

Official results in the tightly contested Toronto Eglington riding, released Friday night, placed the victory of Progressive Conservative Leonard Reilly in doubt.

Reilly, a Liberal standard bearer Mrs. Jean Newman, a former Toronto alderman, was slashed to 38.

Final figures for the contest were: Reilly, 11,366; Mrs. Newman, 11,328; and Eamon Martin, New Democratic candidate, 2,695.

Gordon Edick, campaign manager for Mrs. Newman, said he had no doubt a recount would bring Eglington into the Liberal camp. "There are 204 polls and 38 votes is not too much to catch up on," he said.

Travel Curbs Enforced

LONDON (AP)—An emergency supply of 400,000 doses of smallpox vaccine arrived today from the United States as eight European nations put Britain under a virtual quarantine.

The disease, brought into the country by Pakistani immigrants in late December and early January, has killed six persons.

Persons leaving Britain were advised by the health ministry that they must have proof of recent vaccination in order to enter Turkey, Cyprus, Spain, Italy, Germany, Austria, Finland and Sweden.

British contestants in the annual Monte Carlo automobile rally were told before leaving Glasgow that they must be vaccinated in order to enter France.

The vaccine, in dried form, arrived in five cardboard cartons aboard an Air India jetliner. Another 100,000 doses are due Sunday.

A health ministry spokesman said so far there is no shortage of vaccine in Britain "but the additional supplies were ordered as a precaution."

Tens of thousands of Britons have lined up at medical centres for vaccination in London, Leeds, Bradford, Cardiff and other cities where confirmed or suspected smallpox cases have turned up.

Canada Takes Precautions

OTTAWA (UPI)—A health department spokesman said today there was no indication that the smallpox outbreak in Western Europe had been carried to Canada.

Dr. W. H. Frost, head of the departments' quarantine and immigration services, said, however, that the government had taken special precautions in view of the outbreak.

270 Deaths In Pakistan

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI)—Eight more smallpox victims died Friday, raising Pakistan's official toll to more than 270 deaths from the disease.

Another 24 cases were admitted to hospitals. Karachi police had to put 10 of them in hospital forcibly when they refused to go voluntarily.

The army continued its compulsory vaccination and isolation drive, and said the public was co-operating better in the campaign against the epidemic.

Centennial Flashback...

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

JULIUS WEYMUS, a colored graduate of the chain gang, was arrested for selling a home-made liquor known as tangle-leg to Indians in the Songish village. Weymuss had recently married a Songish woman, moved into the village, and sold tangle-leg to his heart's content until caught in the act. He was pummeled somewhat by two officers as he showed signs of resisting arrest.

The theatrical company which has been occupying the Victoria Theatre with a noticeable lack of financial success left for New Westminster in an effort to better its luck.

Two new stoves were installed in the Supreme Court room.

At long last, the weather moderated enough to start snow and ice melting, but was followed by a gale of wind.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

Superintendent of the motor-vehicle branch George Lindsay couldn't resist getting a dig into a group of policemen-curlers during the annual police bospital.

"I can see it in the papers now," said George. "Major Robbery Occurs While Police Curling."

"It's all right," retorted RCMP Inspector Gordon Gerrie, "just so long as it happens in the city and not in our jurisdiction."

"Let's hope it happens in Oak Bay," interjected another member of Gerrie's rink. "After the beating they gave us this morning, it would serve them right."

Service station lessee Sid Knott beat Mr. Lindsay to the punch with this timely bit of advice for car owners who are getting their licence plates on early: Destroy or hold on to those old plates until they expire date.

One Duncan car owner, reports Sid, just threw away his old plates, which still are good until midnight, Feb. 28. He was a very surprised car owner when police came around. Seems an auto bearing his licence plates was involved in a hit-and-run accident.

That took a bit of explaining.

Gordon Holms, the chartered accountant, returned to his desk the other day to find this unnerving telephone message: "Mrs. Holms has a woodpecker in the bathtub."

Item about a car from an adventure story, "Smuggler's Buoy," by Captain A. O. Pollard, VC, published in 1958: "She responded like the thoroughbred she was. The needle simply spun around the dial. Soon it was hovering just over forty."

Each year when the Victoria Life Underwriters turn over their $100 pledge to the University Building Fund they look for a novel way to make the presentation.

Last year, for instance, they came up with a legal, cashable cheque measuring about two by five feet.

This year, in honor of the centenary, they planned on presenting 100 silver dollars.

The thing the insurance men didn't figure on was that silver dollars are hard to come by in these parts. In fact, the banks demand three-months' notice to supply them in any quantity.

Which is why Victoria College Principal Dr. W. H. Hickman took this year's donation from the life underwriters in the form of a plain, ordinary cheque.

The Victoria centennial celebrations "official" calendar informs one and all that the Gilbert and Sullivan Operatic Society will give a performance of "New Moon" at the Royal Theatre May 21-23.

Well, the society DID give a performance of "New Moon." It DID give it at the Royal Theatre and, dad gum it, it DID give it in 1961 not 1962.

Local man-about-music Jock Dunbar has made reservations to leave us in October. He'll be returning to his native Scotland, where he would like to make his living singing.

While in Victoria, Jock has sold advertising for CHEK-TV, been a principal in the Gilbert and Sullivan Society, starred in CBUT's Show Stoppers, and had his own show on the local outlet.

A large interlocking system of hockey pools was uncovered and broken up by police in Toronto last week.

We'd hate to think what would happen if a similar crackdown was conducted in some well-established downtown business establishments—that Saturday TV game has become a little more than just a vehicle of entertainment.

BY CITIZENS' COMMITTEE

Urban Renewal Supported

Support for recommendations of the recent city report on urban renewal study was wholeheartedly given in an informal report by the 18-month-old Citizens' Advisory Committee Wednesday.

A five-man committee chaired by Leslie Pope, Victoria realtor, tabled its report after consultation with Capital Region Planning Board professional staff, submission of suggestions to the staff and its own discussion.

The downtown area needs early attention, the report said.

"It is our belief that serious study should be given at the earliest opportunity to the downtown core of the city with the object of correcting the rot there."

APPOINTED 1960

The citizens' committee was appointed in July, 1960, by the mayor and council. Its other four members are: James Genge, D. MacGregor, Arthur Stott and George Wheaton.

One of the most attractive features of urban renewal, the report said, is financing, with the city share not exceeding 25 per cent. The senior governments pay the rest.

"We are agreed," the report said, "that so far Victoria has no big city slums. Nevertheless we are concerned with the degree of blight that already exists and we realize it will become worse and more widespread unless corrected."

Members were of the opinion that it is financially possible for the city to continue improvements to streets, sidewalks and lighting, apart from local improvement work.

It is realized that downtown commercial buildings are at present beyond the scope of urban renewal because requirements are tied directly to housing projects.

"Yet, the downtown area other than residential property, demands consideration," the report said.

Further study should be given to remarks in the report on low-interest loans for private redevelopment, the committee suggested.

It concurred in the plans for an extended Blanshard Street, provided that alternative revenue producing use could be found for land on the west side if it is not set aside for motels.

Lin Yu-Tang Ailing

for a further increase of a dollar per student for all universities across Canada.

If the throne speech means that the government has accepted the proposal, Victoria College would be given about $250,000.

The money would go toward increased operating costs at the college and would not aid the Gordon Head development plans at all, according to F. A. Fairclough, university development manager.

"This is welcome news indeed," said college principal Dr. W. H. Hickman, "I only wish we knew how much."

At present Canadian universities get a federal per capita grant of $1.50. Last year the National Federation of Canadian University Students asked

SURVEY 2,000 INDIANS IN ARTHRITIS SEARCH

VANCOUVER (CP)—A team of Vancouver doctors will examine more than 2,000 Haida Indians on the Queen Charlotte Islands, 450 miles north of here, in an attempt to uncover the cause of rheumatoid arthritis.

In the first survey of its kind in Canada, all Indians over 15 years, will be X-rayed and blood tested as the doctors look for hidden traces of the disease.

If it is found that rheumatoid arthritis is common among Haidas, researchers will be interested in finding the reasons why and will look closely into such conditions as climate and diet.

The tribe was chosen because they have been living in the same area for hundreds of years with little migration from outside groups.

Similar surveys are being conducted in other parts of the world.

Orphanage Suffered Big Operating Loss

Rising costs and unemployment were blamed for last year's $20,533 operating loss at the B.C. Protestant Orphanage on Cook Street.

President of the board of management, Edward Williams, said unemployment and rising costs lessened the maintenance fees sometimes paid on behalf of the 33 children in the home. The loss was an increase of $2,600 over last year's deficit.

Mr. Williams was re-elected president at the annual meeting of the board, held Thursday evening in the council chambers of the City Hall.

Others re-elected were Charles Ellington, vice-president; Robert Hampton, secretary; Denis Humphries, treasurer, and board members Mrs. Dorothy Holder, Mrs. Florence Nelson, Brig. M. C. Milley, Bishop D. Rankin, Captain B. Gadsden, Douglas Tuck and Frank Shandley.

C. M. Parrott replaced the late Reginald Hayward, who had served on the board for nearly 50 years.

Re-elected honorary physicians were Dr. F. M. Bryant and Dr. A. G. Gray; honorary dentists, Dr. T. G. Smith and Dr. T. W. James; honorary auditor, K. R. Genn, and honorary solicitor, F. L. Shaw.

Tribute was paid to the matron of the home, Mrs. Ada Barner, and to Dr. Bryant and Mr. Genn for their long service.

CD Police Volunteers Sworn In

Sworn obligations were given by 16 Greater Victoria volunteers who graduated as civil defence auxiliary police Thursday night.

Mayor Dick Wilson presented the men with certificates confirming them as special constables, making about 100 such volunteers trained here since 1958.

Deputy CD co-ordinator for Victoria, George Stevenson, a justice of the peace, administered the oaths to candidates.

The class was addressed by co-ordinator V. S. Godfrey and area co-ordinator W. W. Mathers.

Training was done by Allan Foster, aided by members of Greater Victoria police departments, representatives of which attended the ceremony with guests of the graduates.

Registrations for the next CD police course are being accepted now. About 10 more men can be enrolled for classes opening next month.

Members of the last class were: Gerald R. Cox, Malcolm V. Connors, Peter J. Martin, Charles V. Hughes, Darrell A. Cardinell, Brian E. Clements, David W. Hill.

Robert C. Clausen, William F. Hibbert, Barry J. Knowles, Monte R. Preston, Russell T. Morgan, Barrie A. Morson, Hendrik A. Lok, Robin A. Campbell and Ronald W. Tomlin.

The stocks were held by Stewart Smith, superintendent of brokers and E. T. Cantell, superintendent of real estate.

The company was founded in 1953 by Alfred Vang and financier Louis Detwiler. Mr. Vang has been under investigation by the RCMP and was also involved in a lengthy civil court action.

Mr. Bonner said, although he has no official report on the matter, there is no evidence of wrongdoing against the B.C. civil servants.

PROVINCIAL chairman of the 1962 Red Cross campaign is Fred H. Dietrich of Vancouver. Mr. Dietrich is also chairman of the B.C. Red Cross Blood Donor Committee. Provincial quota for the campaign has been set at $674,569. Local campaign officers and objectives will be announced Tuesday.

Inside forward Jimmy McIlroy snatched a tie for Burnley with a goal five minutes from the end against West Bromwich.

A crowd of 55,000 turned out at Tottenham for the visit of Manchester United—and only Greaves' goal-scoring talent saved Spurs from defeat. Twor Manchester led. Then, with 13 minutes to go, Greaves nodded home the leveller to make 2-2.

HARD SHOT WINS

Fullback Colin Green kept Everton in the championship hunt with a screaming 35-yard shot late in the second half against Leicester. The ball sizzled just inside the post and Everton won 3-2, staying in third place with 32 points from 26 games.

Ipswich dropped behind in the standings, suffering a 3-1 defeat at Birmingham. Bill Baxter, an Ipswich defender, scored into his own goal in the second half—giving Birmingham a 3-0 lead. Ray Crawford, who plays for England, got Ipswich's goal.

West Ham United joined Ipswich on the 31-point mark on a 2-0 victory over Aston Villa. Both goals came in the first half—one from Phil Woosnam and another from John Dick.

Sheffield Wednesday scored a goal in each half against Fulham—one by Tom McAnearney and another by Johnny Farnham—to win 2-0 at Fulham.

That left Sheffield Wednesday in sixth place in the standings and Fulham struggling at the bottom of the standings.

Fulham and Chelsea, beaten 3-1 today by Sheffield United, each have 19 points.

Ray Charnley, Blackpool's tail centre forward, fired four goals against Wolverhampton and sparked his team to a 4-2 victory—Wolves' biggest defeat since 1934. In that year Arsenal defeated Wolves 7-0.

Greaves Saves 'Spurs

LONDON (AP)—Inside forward Jimmy Greaves whipped in two goals for Tottenham Hotspur today to tie 2-2 against Manchester United—keeping Tottenham on the heels of English Soccer League leader Burnley.

Lowly West Bromwich Albion held Burnley to a 1-1 tie and now Burnley totals 35 points from 24 games. Tottenham, the defending champion, has 33 points from 26 games.

The English League program calls for a total of 42 matches.

Harpo's Honker Hallowed

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The little man with the glaze-wig, quasi-duds, and bashed-in high hat mounted the podium hallowed by such greats as Leopold Stokowski and Eugene Ormandy.

Instead of a baton he waggled a length of pipe with a rubber honker on one end. The ghosts of all the virtuosos that inhabit the old Academy of Music must have fluttered wildly as the mad maestro gave the orchestra the go-ahead by whistling shrilly, his fingers crammed in his mouth.

This was Harpo Marx, the tongue-tied vandal of stage and screen lunacy and master of grotesque pantomime, conducting the famed Philadelphia Orchestra.

This was Friday's rehearsal. The full-dress performance comes tonight, at high-light of the academy's 105th anniversary concert which brings together such dissimilar artists as Harpo, Stokowski and soprano Birgit Nilsson.

Harpo is guest conductor in the finale of Haydn's Symphony in C Major—a fairy world of melody, trills and other magic sounds. Harpo gives it extra zing with antic comedy.

HARPO MARX
... 'mad maestro'

The academy was really jumping throughout the rehearsal and more than a few onlooking esthetes applauded the footery.

Perhaps a cellist winced when made to play his instrument upside down. Drum crashes were extra loud, but there were no complaints. Accepted with generous laughter was Harpo's fraternal hand-flapping to back row players as the voice of the cuckoo piped up in the symphony.

Despite all the daft doings the orchestra got Harpo's message and between them they made good music.

Harpo said he was keenly aware of the cultural importance of this show, his formal debut with a major orchestra. He welcomed Stokowski to his dressing room, prompting a clamor for news pictures of the two together. "Go ahead, say something," one photographer encouraged.

"No, no," said Stokowski. "Maestros don't talk to each other. They don't even look at each other."

The audience will get the familiar Harpo a little later in the program. He's going to solo with his harp as well, playing popular numbers.

GIZENGA IN CAPITAL TO AWAIT CONOG PROBE

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)—Former deputy premier Antoine Gizenga arrived here by air today to answer charges he planned to set up an independent government in Oriental province.

Gizenga, fired as deputy premier last week, was summoned here by Premier Cyrille Adoula.

A government spokesman said that as far as he knew there was no warrant for Gizenga's arrest.

Usually well-informed sources said Adoula wished to keep the leftist leader in the Oriental province capital of Stanleyville until investigations of his activities by provincial authorities were complete.

But they said the premier gave in to United Nations pressure to summon the former right-hand man of late premier Patrice Lumumba to account for his actions in Stanleyville.

Huge Drug Haul As Ring Smashed

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court Friday: Brian Lewis, 160 Island Highway, failure to display registration, $10.

Gordon Parsons, 4114 Delmar, careless driving, $40, and failing to remain at scene, $75 and licence suspended.

Eric Haywood, 2154 Allenby, illegal left turn, $10.

Safe Safe But Yeggs Went Free

It was a case of "more haste less speed" for four bandits who tried to make off with a 1,300-pound safe containing some $2,000 early today.

Scene of the attempted theft was the West Coast Credit Union, 31 Erie Street.

Commercial fisherman Tommie Thompson of Vancouver was in the vicinity at the time. As he approached the building, a delivery van drove in front of him and one of the occupants asked: "What's going on in there?"

Thompson said he didn't know and then the man asked him to phone for the police.

After he had gone, the truck backed up to the building and the occupants wrestled the heavy safe into the back.

They all got in and took off at high speed—minus the safe, which fell out of the rear as they accelerated!

DOUGLAS RAPS SOCIAL CREDIT 'John Birchers of Canada'

EDMONTON (UPI)—New Democratic party leader T. C. Douglas Friday night said the Social Credit party was "in danger of becoming the John Birchers of Canada."

Douglas told an NDP rally that the real danger on the North American Continent was "not from Communism which has never held any appeal for our people."

"The real danger comes from the radical right which would destroy many of our freedoms under the pretext of defending us from Communism."

Douglas said that "some of the views expressed by Social Credit leaders recently indicate that the Social Credit party is in danger of becoming the John Birchers of Canada."

The former Saskatchewan premier said that Social Credit opposition to fair employment practices legislation allied the party "with apartheid in South Africa and with every reactionary group which seeks to perpetuate racial and religious discrimination."

"From a party which was originally formed to fight against the 'bankers' toolies," Douglas said, "the Social Credit party has become the hand-maiden of special privilege and the vested interests."

Indonesia Set For UN Talks?

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Prospects of negotiations aimed at settling the Dutch-Indonesian dispute over West New Guinea brightened today with news that Indonesia is sending an expert on the issue to United Nations headquarters.

The Indonesian delegation disclosed that Sudjarwo Tjondronegoro, a top aide of Foreign Minister Subandrio, former chief of the delegation, represented his government in past UN debates on Dutch-ruled West New Guinea.

Delegates expressed belief Subjarwo is being sent here in response to Acting Secretary-General U Thant's appeal that Dutch and Indonesian representatives discuss with him the chances of a peaceful settlement.

The Netherlands government has accepted Thant's offer to act as mediator and proposed in turn that the UN chief send observers to West New Guinea where opposing naval forces already have clashed.

Sukardjo Wirjopranoto, Indonesia's present chief UN delegate who told a reporter Subandrio's aide was coming, said there was "something in the air." He did not elaborate.

Indonesia has insisted that any negotiations should be limited to the problem of how to transfer the disputed territory from Dutch to Indonesian administration.

The Netherlands government wants the talks to take place without any prior conditions.

WITH SONG AND SPEECH

'Immortal Memory' Toasted by Scots

By IAIN HUNTER
Like Tam o' Shanter, Victoria's Knights and Dames of the Thistle "did na mind the storm a whistle" on Friday night when they gathered for their annual celebration of Robbie Burns' birthday.

The "address to the immortal memory" was given by Robert Noble. He emphasized the happy side of the bard's life by reference to his "girl friends," the object of his songs, and the good times had with "inspiring, bold John Barleycorn" referred to in his poetry.

The haggis was piped in by Pipe-Major F. Knight. The address was given in full with due solemnity and a twinkling eye by the Rev. T. H. McAllister.

Highlights of the concert preceding the supper were accordion selections by Knight, N. McLean, songs by Dorothy and Bill Hosie, and tap dancing by Sylvia Mobey, not at all out of place in a Scottish gathering. Exhibitions of highland dancing by Donnie Woods and Debbie Johnstone were particularly popular.

Dancing followed the supper.

$3 MILLION FORTUNE LEFT BY SCOT HERMIT

LONDON (AP)—A Scot who lived a hermit's life for 35 years has been disclosed as one of Britain's secret millionaires. Capt. David Lawson died last month at the age of 82. He became a recluse after a polo accident in 1926. His will, published Friday, showed he left £1,074,293 ($3,068,010).

Twisters Felled By Gas

TIMMINS, Ont. (CP)—A mysterious malady which knocked out 22 twisters at a dance Friday night was solved today by blood tests which showed they had suffered carbon monoxide poisoning.

Fits hit 21 teenagers and one adult after a number of twist tunes had been played at the community centre dance. They started fainting without warning and were taken to hospital where some had to be revived as many as four times. The last victim left hospital today.

Dr. Aurele Bergeron, who conducted the blood tests, said the spasms suffered by the dancers would happen after extreme exertion.

The carbon monoxide poisoning was blamed on the incomplete combustion of natural gas with which the community centre is heated.

An investigation is to be held.

The dairy and beef breed known as brown Swiss cattle was brought from Switzerland to the United States in 1869.

DID DAG CRAWL AWAY INJURED FROM CRASH?

NDOLA (Reuters)—A witness testified before the Dag Hammarskjold plane crash inquiry in this Northern Rhodesia border town today that in his opinion the late United Nations secretary-general was not killed immediately in the crash.

"I was struck by the way the body was lying," said V. A. Lowrie, chief fire officer at Ndola, near the scene of the crash that killed Hammarskjold and 15 others aboard the plane Sept. 18.

"I thought he had been thrown from the plane, got away from the wreckage and lay down in a recumbent position," Lowrie told the official commission formed by the Rhodesian government to investigate the crash.

Tough Bargaining Ahead On Laos Coalition Cabinet

GENEVA (Reuters)—Prince Boun Oum, premier of the right-wing Laotian government, today prepared to leave for home with a broad agreement on a coalition government for the troubled Indochinese kingdom.

Boun reached the agreement Friday in a final session of talks here with his two rival princes—Prince Souvanna Phouma, leader of the neutralist faction, and Prince Souphanouvong, chief of the pro-Communist Pethet Lao rebels.

Key to the agreement was Boun's decision to relinquish his demands for the key defence and interior ministries in the coalition, which will be headed by Souvanna.

Boun's concession, however, was made only on condition that the coalition government be formed by Jan. 20.

Fire Bill 'Legitimate' Firefighting in Thetis Lake Park last year was an unforeseen expense, members of city finance committee learned Thursday.

By arrangement, B.C. Forest Service suppression crews were called in to assist putting down a fire.

The forest service must charge for such duty because the fire was in a municipally-owned park.

The bill—$1,798.79—was "legitimate," city manager C. C. Wyatt told the committee.

This condition was expected to bring tough bargaining when the princes resume their negotiations in Laos for the coalition cabinet which will have 18 members—10 neutralists, four rightists and four leftists.

Dag Hammarskjold Mourning Stamps

New York (EN) Jan. 20—According to a report from the Netherlands Mission to the United Nations, a set of two stamps honoring Dag Hammarskjold will be issued by the U.N. Both stamps will be bordered in black with the U.N. Emblem on a blue background. The stamps are to be distributed by the Elmont Stamp Co.

Collectors may obtain a set by sending 50c to ELMONT STAMP CO., 100 RUBY ST., ELMONT, N.Y. (limit 4 sets to a customer). This special offer is made to introduce Elmont's approval service.

The selection of Sauvanna as premier had been approved previously by the princes. Boun was believed planning to step down to a cabinet post or perhaps retire altogether from politics.

Chill Winds From Ontario

MR. DIEFENBAKER MUST BE a brave man indeed if he intends to call an early election after the events in Ontario this week.

Certainly provincial elections are not sure guides to federal politics but the trend in Ontario, the citadel of the Conservative party, is significant and must be shaking to the Diefenbaker government. Not only did the provincial Liberals retain two seats in the legislature but they won one of the oldest Conservative seats in Ontario. More than that, the Conservative vote as a whole dropped to 38 per cent from the 50 per cent of 1959, while the Liberal vote rose from 38 to 45 per cent. And all this happened immediately after an attractive young Conservative premier, Mr. Robarts, had succeeded the veteran Mr. Frost and appealed for a mandate of public confidence.

As a test of general sentiment in Ontario the byelections confirm the Gallup poll which gives the Liberal party a distinct lead in the traditional Conservative stronghold, as well as a wide margin in the second largest province, Quebec.

It is in these two provinces that the next election, like nearly all national elections, will be mainly decided. A party which cannot win a majority of seats in at least one of these provinces, or preferably both, can never hope to win any election. That is simply a fact of political geography and arithmetic.

Assuredly the present climate is not favorable to Mr. Diefenbaker, but on the other hand almost equally powerful reasons operate to force him into an early election. For he now faces a most difficult parliamentary session — above all, the necessity of bringing down another depressing budget if he postpones the election until autumn.

The size of the budget already has been swollen by the government's commitments in this week's Speech from the Throne—an obvious political document—and even if the government's revenues are likely to rise with the improvement of Canadian business another large deficit can hardly be avoided.

Mr. Fleming, who guaranteed a balanced budget two years ago and said it was essential, will hardly be eager to maintain his unbroken record of deficit finance. He might well prefer to take the election plunge now before he has to reveal all the financial facts, but the news from Ontario is particularly disturbing for him personally. In the general area of his own federal constituency, Toronto-Eglinton, the provincial Conservative candidate squeezed by with a hair-breadth majority.

This and the news from other ridings must discourage the bold gambler of a spring poll. Those prophets who have been predicting it should remember that Mr. Diefenbaker is not compelled to dissolve the present Parliament until the early summer of 1963. (The best guess at the moment is that the prime minister, leaving himself wide elbow room in the Speech from the Throne, has not made up his own mind yet.)

Off to an Auspicious Start

A LONG-AWAITED CEREMONY

today marked the official start of construction of Victoria College's new establishment at Gordon Head. With the symbolic turning of the first sod by Judge J. B. Clearhue, the College enters upon a new era—an era that will be centred in a group of fine buildings and a constantly growing student body and faculty.

Some will remember the long growth of the institution, from a single room at the old Central School, later to Craigdarroch Castle, more recently to the Lansdowne-Richmond site, and now to a spacious campus which could become a model for this continent.

The architects' sketches so far published indicate that local talent has risen to the occasion and produced exceptional plans that will be a credit to the college and the whole community.

The academic record of Victoria College and the standards of its faculty and administration are of a quality to ensure that the best possible use will be made of the facilities now to be provided. The College and advisory boards, the provincial government and the public which contributed so generously to financing the new development, are to be congratulated.

Judge Clearhue turned a symbolic sod today and Victoria College turned a corner. The way lies clear ahead, in stimulating and challenging prospect.

More Miles Driven, More Killed

LAST YEAR 360 PEOPLE WERE killed in British Columbia automobile accidents—almost one a day. This is an all-time record, but it will be exceeded if present trends continue. And the trends present a paradox.

Because more people are driving more miles each succeeding year, the number of fatalities mounts in spite of the fact that more miles are driven safely.

While provincial statistics are not immediately available, authorities are satisfied that they follow roughly those compiled in the United States.

In that country during 1945, the death toll on highways amounted to 11.3 persons for every 100,000,000 passenger-miles driven. By 1960 the rate fell to 5.3.

But, as other statistics show, the fatality rate based on the number of passenger-miles driven loses much of its significance when the mileage rises in leaps and bounds and the total number of people killed grows alarmingly.

Some progress is being made in safe driving, but it is not nearly enough.

The issue before the public—and through its influence, before the authorities—is that of increasing safety by any practical means.

Practical means do exist, says an authority in the United States. The Crash Injury Research Group at Cornell University, for instance, reports that if all passengers in automobiles owned and used seat belts, the lives of 5,000 people would be saved each year.

This is a finding made by intensive research. Yet how many cars come equipped with safety belts? How many owners have them installed? And how many people use them once they are installed?

This is only one of the safety factors largely ignored by the driving public. The manufacturers could not, of course, make people use seat belts if they were installed. They could, on the other hand, provide the equipment so that people in automobiles could use it if they wished.

Beyond that, authorities seem generally agreed that a high percentage of all car accidents arise from the incompetence of drinking drivers. Legislation is now on the books to cover that menace. But too frequently it is inadequately enforced: According to one informed estimate, half the motorists in British Columbia whose abilities are impaired by alcohol are never charged. Frequently those who are charged escape with relatively light discipline on the grounds that their livelihood depends on their right to drive. When death on the road claims a victim a day in British Columbia, how long can practical safety measures—seat belts and stricter control of drinking drivers—be so unevenly applied?

Innsbruck Games—Canada Please Note

THE AUSTRIAN WINTER Olympics committee, preparing now for the Games in 1964, is letting the athletic world know that the motif at Innsbruck will be simplicity.

The point is a matter of some interest to Canada which, with Finland and Czechoslovakia, is expected to bid for the event in 1968. The emphasis on simplicity arises from design and from necessity in the capital of the Austrian Tyrol. The city is in no position to rival the extravaganzas of Squaw Valley. Nor does it want to.

Innsbruck is planning no major highway to the Winter Olympics and will use the eight apartments being constructed to house athletes as suites for Tyrolean families when the Games are completed.

The Austrians want, according to current report, to see that the highest standards of sportsmanship and competition are provided for the competitors with the spectators using what accommodation they can find.

If the Winter Games succeed at Innsbruck, the technique followed by that centre in staging them could become a model for others—including Canada—who hope to play hosts in future. If they fail, then the sentiment already evident to abandon the winter Games could grow. At Innsbruck the quadrennial international show and ice sports will be on trial—perhaps on trial for life.

Nature Rambles

By FREEMAN KING

AS we wander about the countryside we often come across some creature or plant that we shy away from.

It seems natural for human beings to dislike certain kinds of wild life, at least as far as physical contact is concerned. Perhaps some fears are justified. Snakes are disliked by most people yet ours are harmless and one of the most useful of our creatures, living on insects, larvae, rodents and other small creatures.

Even the rattlesnake, the only poisonous snake in the province, is harmless unless disturbed and then he acts like a gentleman, giving you warning by his rattle.

Spiders are to most people repulsive, yet most of them are quite harmless to mankind.

They are amongst the earth's most valuable citizens, for they attend to their own business and destroy untold numbers of unwanted insects.

Perhaps their appearance is against them, yet they are very fascinating to watch.

Toads and frogs seem offensive to many people yet they are harmless and make good pets, and are extremely useful in helping to keep down insects.

Even the lowly earthworm, which is too much like a snake to be handled very much, stirs up the ground and helps make it fertile. It has been said that it is doubtful whether many other creatures have played such an important part in the earth's history.

LOOSE ENDS

Early or Late Starter, and Nothing Can Be Done About It

THAT incredibly energetic young man, the President of the United States, has re-introduced a dangerous experiment into American government.

Like former President Hoover, whom he resembles in no other way, Mr. Kennedy has taken to inviting the leaders of the Congress to breakfast at the White House. There, newly risen from their beds at a ghastly hour, unfortified by even a cup of coffee, they are expected to agree on the policies of the world's most powerful nation.

If the American legislators are like most of us, they will agree on nothing at breakfast but, in the average man's early-morning temper, are likely to shatter the peace of mankind, such as it is.

Perhaps the Americans are different from us but in Canada it is a statistical fact the ordinary family is on the edge of break-up at about 8 a.m. six days a week. And anyway, as the late Moss Hart remarked in his autobiography,

FROM PARIS

They Succeeded Where No Nations Had Ever Done Before

IN deciding on a joint agricultural policy, the Six Common Market countries (France, Germany, Italy, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg) have succeeded where no group of nations has ever done so before.

Fluctuating, traditional, and seasonal, agriculture is peculiarly unamenable to large-scale co-operation, and for years has provided the Six with their greatest obstacle to greater integration. Agreement was reached this week only through large concessions on the part of Germany, whose small-scale, highly-priced and not very efficient agriculture will now have to face keener competition from the cheaper and more plentiful produce of her neighbors.

The plan, which will take eight years to implement, is gradually to unify prices throughout the Six, on a level higher than those in France and Italy but much below German ones.

And in order to encourage the Six to become self-sufficient in food and to reduce imports from outside, a system of import levies is to be introduced that will be used to subsidize and modernize the weaker sectors of European agriculture.

All this will stimulate the farmer's of no one ever says anything worth listening to before 11 a.m. at earliest. The wise man will hold his tongue until it is ready to be attached to his mind, a slow and often painful junction.

THE inhabitants of North America are usually divided, by the sociologists, anthropologists and other meddlers, between the political Left and Right, the haves and the have-nots, the men with status or without it, the Democrats and Republicans or, in Canada, the Liberals and Conservatives. Much more accurately they should be divided between those who spring out of bed alive and those who stagger to work quite dead for all practical purposes.

Thus we find a great man like Mr. Kennedy devouring six large newspapers and a sheaf of secret reports before breakfast which, his friends tell me, is often left untouched while he conducts a conference or dictates a memo to Mr. Khrushchev.

On the other hand, a man as great as Sir Winston Churchill and another as able as the late Mr. Stalin could never reach their peak until about midnight.

It is no use, as I have found by nearly fifty years of discouraging experience as an organization man, to expect either class of human creatures to change its ways. A human being, male or female, is born an early or a late starter and nothing can be done about it.

The thing is hereditary, constitutional and organic. All the efficiency experts, psychologists, and even the President of the United States can't alter it in the least.

Mr. Kennedy, for instance, may lead the Congressional leaders to breakfast but, if they are not of his type, he cannot make them think before noon. In respect for his office they may go through the outward motions of thought, they may answer politely to the President (after snarling at their wives and children), they may mumble a few disconnected words and pretend to understand what their host is saying but their minds, like an automobile in cold weather, won't begin to hit on all cylinders much before the luncheon hour.

NO one who surveys this town of Victoria, if it is typical, can doubt that the late starters are in the great majority and getting later all the time. For the minority of early starters it is alarming to arrive at the office full of life-force and sunshine only to find that your colleagues have already lurched out to the nearest coffee bar where, with glazed eyes and semi-consciousness, they settle the affairs of the world though they can't settle their own.

It is only the superficial student of the North American ethos, however, who will disparage the coffee bar for it is, in fact, the only reliable safety valve of the democratic process, much more important than Congress or Parliament, the one place where the morning barbarian can be tamed and gradually re-introduced to civilization.

WITHOUT that treatment society would be shattered, before lunch, the streets would run with blood instead of coffee and no doubt if a vote were taken in the average coffee bar a large majority would decide to drop the Bomb and be done with it all.

One must therefore view with alarm the President's matutinal experiment. As every wife knows, most men are sub-human in the morning but later in the day a wise woman may extract obedience, money and affection from them quite easily, and a President may even extract a policy if he will only wait a bit.

THE ARTS: DRINKING AND PAINTING

In an Empty Bottle Committed to the Care of the Ocean

I ONCE LIKENED the writing of a weekly column to the activity of the hopeful individual who selects an empty bottle from the stack under his bunk, puts a note in it with his address on, and commits it to the care of the ocean. From time to time an acknowledgement comes from "out there" that the message has been received, even if it is not always understood, so I was delighted to see Mr. Burke Cahill's letter in the Times of the other evening. He raises some points of great importance, and I should like to use this space to answer them because I have a feeling that what he said firmly and politely in a letter, is sometimes thought and said by other readers with even greater firmness, and less politeness, with asterisks replacing some of the epithets in front of my name.

Mr. Cahill begins by taking me to task for "lecturing the B.C. Liquor Control Board for not stocking exotic French wines"; he urges me to "understand that Canadians cannot assume these cultural features of France"; he says that, "Canadians will of course develop their own drinking customs as all people have done."

With the greatest possible respect, I submit that every one of these points is misdirected. My hatred of the B.C. Liquor Control Board proceeds from the knowledge that if I lived elsewhere in Canada I could have a much greater choice of my favorite tipple than Col. McGugan and his voracity-oriented purchasing agents make available for me. And I don't mean Quebec—where a large number of people who would consider themselves better qualified than Mr. Cahill to speak in the name of "Canadians" drink "exotic French wines"—but places such as Winnipeg. So a large number of Canadians have already assumed "these cultural aspects of France," which I cannot think is a bad thing.

I am a little mystified by Mr. Cahill's other point, that "Canadians will develop their own drinking customs as all people have done." If they haven't got their own customs now, they can presumably only acquire them from somewhere else.

Such customs as I have identified as Canadian, e.g. the finishing of a bottle of hard liquor once it is opened, and the disposal of empty beer bottles by throwing them on the beach or the roadside, I can't say I admire. This has nothing to do with their being Canadian, but a great deal to do with their being demonstrably idiotic.

In any case, people change their drinking customs. When England owned Maine, Touraine, Anjou, Joffou, Aquitaine and Gascony—and when I die, the steps I have taken to compensate for the loss of these fabled lands will be found graven on my liver. I trust—she drank French wines, and especially the noble wines of Bordeaux. Poor men drank claret then, and drank it often. The loss of those provinces led to a change in the drinking habits of the English, as you may learn from the plays of Shakespeare.

In the sixteenth century it was the wine of Crete (Malvasia, Malvoisie, and hence Malmsey) sherry sack from Jerez and canary sack from Madeira that began to put the wine beyond the reach of the working man. In the seventeenth century he was reduced to ale, and by the eighteenth century the arrival of modern industrial conditions had driven him to cheap gin, with what results a perusal of Hogarth's works will serve to confirm.

When this addiction began to take a heavy toll of life and health the Government was forced to take action, in spite of an influential distillers' lobby, and English working class drinking habits were changed by fiscal measures.

The wealthier classes had already changed theirs, because of the Methuen treaty of 1703, which brought in the heavy wine from Oporto at a preferential duty, and substituted port for claret at the farmers' ordinary and the noble man's dinner table.

Sixty years ago whisky-drinkers were considered "rather low" in England, and gentlemen drank brandy. I would guess that this only changed during the First World War.

People's drinking habits, like all their other habits, are susceptible to change, and I remain unconvinced that the average Canadian's preference for "hard liquor" over wine is either permanent or salutary.

Only last night I sat down with some old Canadians to enjoy a superb dinner cooked by a new Canadian, and with it we drank some of the Burgundy that one of Colonel McGugan's less vigilant subordinates had allowed to slip into the provincial vaults. To have drunk rye whiskey would have been an act of barbarism, and a gratuitous insult to the devoted labors of the cook.

The meal was worthy of a very great wine, and this we are not, in a free country, permitted to obtain unless we are prepared to tackle the apparatus of forms-in-quadruplicate, with attendant delays and surcharges.

As for the painting I mentioned, let me remind you that I praised the sketches of Tom Thomson—which he made on the spot. It was his big studio picture, "The West Wind," which I found uninteresting, and I must say mildly in my own defence that I have never heard anyone who knows anything about painting springing to the defence of this laborious work.

For twenty years now I have never whinnied missed an opportunity to look at paintings, and I have seen a fair number in that time. Whether I am looking at British painting or French, Indian painting or Yugoslavian, Russian painting or Canadian the only thing I am interested in is quality—I don't give a hoot where it comes from.

And perhaps now is as good a time as any to offer the suggestion that the Group of Seven's real achievement was to cease to paint Canada in a European style dating from 1785, and start painting it in a European style dating from 1985.

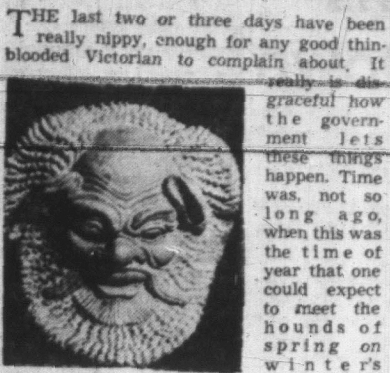

In this second of a series on British Columbia communities, Mr. Herbert Siebner, well-known Victoria artist, portrays a rainy day in Prince Rupert. Mr. Siebner writes: "It rains, rains and rains... the air is wet and smells of rotten wood... and a little Indian boy walks in the rain."

Rustle of Spring

SILENUS

THE last two or three days have been really nippy, enough for any good thin-blooded Victorian to complain about. It really is disgraceful how the government lets these things happen. Time was, not so long ago, when this was the time of year that one could expect to meet the hounds of spring on winter's traces, but the last few years have seen nothing but procrastination and delay.

The government had better look to it; now that everyone has the vote (including the tender buds) there will no doubt be a lot of loud complaining. What we need is someone to come out strong on a platform of less winter.

The municipal authorities, too, are not displaying the energy we expect of them. The centennial committee ought to be out making speeches to counteract the meteorological slander which is being spread far and wide by the Arctic breezes. Another golden opportunity is being let slip by this supine body. They should be warming up to the place instead of huddling around indoors until press releases.

A polar bear was seen crossing Douglas Street early this morning, when questioned by reporters, it said it had just come out to look for a place to live. The police escorted it to the Oak Bay border.

Civil servants are spending their lunch hour spearing seals through the ice of the Inner Harbor; fishermen report a run of Arctic char in Bowker Creek; the local civil defence authorities have placed rigid controls on wolverine fur, and all the rum in the Liquor Board warehouse is frozen solid.

All these dreadful things are happening right here in the Garden of the Emp. oops... Commonwealth, and the government is doing nothing about it at all. Are we to sit down tamely and suffer these Siberian blasts without so much as a protest in the United Nations? Are we to sit idly by while our daffodil shoots get nipped in the bud?

It seems that we are. Times have changed, alas. This sort of nonsense would never have been tolerated in Victoria in the old days.

New Standards For Immigrants

OTTAWA (CP)—A formula to remove racial discrimination from Canada's immigration laws without opening this country's gates to immigrants whose kins are black, brown or yellow was announced Friday by Immigration Minister Fairclough.

She told the Commons that new immigration regulations, effective Feb. 1, will make it possible for immigrants in all parts of the world to enter Canada if they have the levels of education, training and skills necessary for them to become absorbed in Canadian economic and social life.

The new regulations also provide for the admission of a somewhat wider list of non-white immigrants who have relatives in Canada and provide a broadening of the type of appeals which may be taken before the immigration appeal board.

Mrs. Fairclough said the regulations mean any suitably qualified person from any part of the world can be considered for immigration to Canada entirely on his own merits and without regard to race, color, national origin or country.

ON BASIS OF SKILLS

"This is a substantial advance over the former regulations," she said. "The selection of immigrants insofar as selection on the basis of skills is concerned will be done without discrimination of any kind."

The chief beneficiaries would be Asians, Africans and nationals of Middle East countries. "Not only will sponsors in Canada be able to apply for a wider circle of relatives from these countries than formerly, but for the first time unsponsored applicants from these parts of the world with the necessary qualifications will be admissible to Canada," she said.

"Heretofore, qualified persons from these areas without relatives in Canada could only be admitted by order-in-council."

J. W. Pickersgill (L-Bonavista-Twillingate), immigration minister in the former government, said the new regulations applying to non-whites substitute "one set of criteria for discrimination for another."

There was no racial dis-

Good Omen for Lottery As Bill at Head of List?

OTTAWA (CP)—A national lottery, higher pay for members of parliament and the perennial question of a distinctive Canadian flag are among 66 proposals already put forward by private MPs at the new session of parliament.

The luck of the draw smiled on a bill for a national hospital sweepstakes sponsored by Ferguson Browne (PC-Vancouver-Kingsway).

The Commons' own lottery, held at the start of each session to decide the order of priority, put his bill at the head of a list of 38 private members' bills, and thus it will be the first debated.

Not all of the bills and 28 private members' resolutions are likely to be debated in the one hour daily provided for them. And Commons adoption of a private members' proposal is a rarity. In the past, however, some have resulted in generating enough support, both in the Commons and outside, that the government itself brought in legislation on the subject.

WANTS RAISE IN PAY

That's the hope of Douglas Fisher (CCF-Port Arthur), who has sponsored a resolution asking the government to give immediate consideration to the need for boosting income of MPs to $13,000 from the present $10,000 a year.

Three private members' proposals involving a new national flag are already in the hopper.

Likely the first to be debated is a resolution by Louis Joseph Pigeon (PC-Joliette-Assomption-Montcalm) that a joint Commons-Senate committee consider ways of giving Canada not only a distinctive flag but an official national anthem.

Laurier Regnier (PC-St-Boniface) proposed a national referendum asking: "Are you in favor of a flag for Canada which would not include the emblem of any other country?"

And, for the fourth time, Samuel Boulanger (L-Drummond-Athabaska) has a bill which would have the cabinet prepare a flag design for parliament's approval.

WOULD LIMIT SPENDING—With a general election in the offing, a resolution by J. W. Pickersgill (L-Bonavista-Twillingate) should provoke interest.

The former immigration minister calls for a special Commons committee to recommend more effective measures to limit and control election campaign expenditures in the interests of "assuring greater independence to members of Parliament."

Frank McGee (PC-York-Scarborough), whose fight in recent years for abolition of capital punishment led to government reforms on the death penalty last session, has put forward again another bill to abolish capital punishment completely.

The government bill passed last year provides for life imprisonment for some types of murder and retains death as penalty for other types of murder.

The CCF also served notice it will continue its campaign for changes in Parliament's procedure for handling divorce applications from Quebec and Newfoundland, which have no divorce courts.

Arnold Peters (CCF-Timiskaming) has sponsored three bills. One would shift Parliament's divorce task to the Exchequer Court. If that fails, another bill would establish the post of parliamentary proctor to oversee handling of divorce cases. The third measure would provide some new

... REPORTING

OTTAWA—Come with me into the Commons chamber and see the life of which may not be seen again in our lifetimes.

For, assuming an election in 1962, we are witnessing the last session of the most lopsided Commons in this country's history. All those rows on the right side of the chamber: Tories. Half the rows on the left side: Tories. In all, 203 Conservatives opposed by 50 Liberals and nine New Democrats, and three seats vacant.

This "embarrassment of riches," as Prime Minister Diefenbaker has called his parliamentary legions, gave the country stability of government after the uncertainties of the first minority Diefenbaker administration. But it did not make for a strong Parliament. Most Tory MPs are light on experience and ability, and in the great amorphous mass of government back benches they have had little opportunity to gain the former or develop the latter. They are bodies to fill seats and vote the party line, knowing that any untoward independence could cost them party support and money in the next election.

The reverse of the coin is that the two opposition parties are so weak numerically that they cannot properly fulfill their functions. They don't have enough members to fill their quotas on committees and maintain adequate representation in the House. The fact that the opposition has not been wholly ineffective is due partly to the response of Grit and CCF members to necessity, and partly to the government's own judgment errors and performance failings.

The lopsidedness of party representation is not likely to be repeated in the next Parliament. A substantial number of Conservative MPs know their chances of re-election are slim to negligible.

Indeed, political observers are suggesting the trouble with the next House will be that no party will have a majority, as in 1957. One prominent West Coast politician has put the thought concretely, with a prediction that an early election would return 116 Conservatives, 106 Liberals, 32 New Democrats, 11 Social Crediters and Independents.

In such a situation the New Democrats would hold the balance of power, as the CCF did in 1957. At a press conference the other day someone asked NDP leader Tommy Douglas what his party would do in such circumstances. Instead of answering the question, he offered his opinion as to what the Tories and Grits would do. They would form a coalition government, he opined—a result that would delight the NDP, however unlikely it seems to supporters of Messrs. Diefenbaker and Pearson.

Ideally the government should have a small but workable majority, with the opposition strong enough to maintain a close check on the administration, and to give pause to those who might abuse their power. The last time an election produced this result was in 1945, but none of the lopsided Parliaments since then was as bad as this one.

Whatever the mistakes and failures of the government, only rarely have they involved abuse of power, as when the PM tried to intimidate the Senate into passing his tariff legislation last year.

With those 200 MPs down there voting at the flick of the whip, if Diefenbaker were less a Commons man, less a democrat, things might have gone worse for the country; these last four years.

WEEKEND WEATHER PICTURE ACROSS CANADA

SYNOPSIS—Overnight temperatures again dropped below freezing at almost every station in the province while coldest spot was Williams Lake in the Cariboo with a low of 28 below zero. Gustly winds accompanied the push of arctic air through the mountain valleys. Some slow moderating of temperatures appears to be taking place with warmer air flowing in at high levels in the Cariboo giving a little thin high cloud and snow. This gradual warming trend will likely continue to other points over the next day or so but no great increase in storm activity is yet in sight.

BEASTALL ADVISES

Gardeners Should Know ABCs of Spraying

By JACK BEASTALL

Considering the amount of spray materials applied by home gardeners to fruit trees and bushes it would be reasonable to assume that home-grown fruits are almost perfect as far as pest and disease damage are concerned.

Most gardeners will agree that this is far from the truth. The yearly batch of questions concerning worms in apples, distorted pears, aphides on plums, caterpillars on gooseberries, and grubs in currants, is proof that our spraying is not getting the results one would expect.

Possibly we expect too much.

The trouble could well lie beyond the realm of sprays and dusts.

For these are but a small phase of the overall culture of fruits.

In the average garden it is doubtful if fruit trees and bushes receive anything like the feeding they would have in a commercial orchard.

Lack of food means lack of vigor and greater susceptibility to attack by both diseases and pests.

Putting the trees and bushes on a healthy footing would be an important first step to the production of near perfect crops.

Our approach to the complicated array of sprays and dusts, and the exacting science of spraying, may also be at fault. A spray or dust is not the panacea for all fruit ills. It is a specific weapon for the control of a specific trouble, therefore the cause of the trouble must be recognized before the remedy can be determined.

HOW...WHAT?

Among the hundreds of fruit questions asked at meetings and elsewhere, by far the most common is: "What spray should be used on fruit trees now?"

Before the question can be answered satisfactorily it is necessary to know (a) the kind of fruit being grown, (b) the particular disease or pest that is giving concern, (c) the general cultural program being followed.

Although advertising has given gardeners the impression that using one spray at regular intervals will keep the garden clear of all troubles, there is not, to my knowledge, a spray of this type on the market. A condition in which we should be very thankful.

Each insect and disease has a life cycle peculiar to itself, and at one or another period in that cycle it is vulnerable to a particular control. To spray at times when the disease or pest is not vulnerable is a waste of time, money and materials, to say nothing of the harm done to beneficial organisms and the build-up of poisons.

IN CREVICES

Having recognized the cause of the trouble, selected the spray or dust which will give control, and determined the time, to attack for the maximum results, we still have the matter of proper application to consider.

Although the equipment for applying sprays and dusts in the home garden is quite expensive to purchase, its efficiency cannot compare with that used by the commercial growers.

Certain sprays, to be effective, must be applied at pressures considerably higher than the maximum obtainable from garden sprays. It is the pressure that forces the spray into the tiny cracks and crevices where the insects or disease spores are resting, and where the eggs have been laid in comparative safety.

The buds on dormant trees lie close to the shoots on which they are growing, and it is, between the bud and the shoot that our troubles are in hiding.

Low pressure and haphazard spraying have no effect on these spots, and that is one reason a pest or disease continues on a tree or bush which has received a prescribed treatment.

SPRAYERS' HAZARD

A common report from home gardeners is that the trees are clean to a height of about six feet but infested from there to the top. This shows that a good spraying job can be done to the height of a man, but the garden type sprayer is not effective at greater heights unless the man is up there also.

To state it simply, the gardener must have ladders sufficiently long and strong for him to pack his loaded sprayer to the top of his trees, a tiresome and awkward task that is associated with a certain amount of risk to life and limb.

The microscope reveals that overwintering diseases and insect eggs are to be found all around the trunk, the branches and the smallest twigs of a tree or bush.

THEY'RE TOXIC

To effect any measure of control, each part, even the smallest twigs, must be approached from three angles at least, and often from five angles to obtain complete coverage.

When the job is done in this manner, the operator ends up covered with as much spray material as the tree, especially when a wind is blowing. For this reason, gas masks, gloves and non-absorbent protective clothing is not only advisable, but essential when using the modern sprays which are so toxic to humans.

The few points enumerated here give some idea of where we fail with our sprays and why home-grown fruits are not all we would expect them to be. Other reasons can be found in the many good books devoted solely to this phase of fruit growing.

The provincial department of agriculture issues a spray chart listing pests and diseases most common to each kind of fruit, the recommended controls and the time to apply. This may be obtained free on request.

QUIZZING THE GARDENER

BY JACK BEASTALL

Q.—I have been told that gloxinias can be grown from seed. If this is so, how do I go about it, and how long would it be before the plants would flower? — P.J., View Royal.

A.—Beautiful flowering plants of gloxinia can be grown from seed by the home gardener if the right conditions of warmth and humidity are provided in the early stages. The seed is small, and care must be taken not to smother it. Sow it now in a shallow pot of fine sand and screened peat moss. Keep the contents moist and warm until germination. Prick out seedlings just as soon as they can be handled, and about a month later put each one into a two-inch clay pot of humusy soil (plenty of peat moss). Grow along in warmth steadily and they should flower about August. Keep water from the leaves if in direct sunlight, and shade from direct sun after about mid-March.

Q.—Could you please write on the care of poinsettias in the home? — Mrs. J.P.R.

A.—Complete article on care of Christmas plants (poinsettia, azalea, cyclamen) appeared on Wednesday, Dec. 27. Keep the poinsettia in a room with an equable temperature, preferably about 65 deg. F. Do not overwater. Give only enough to keep soil moderately damp. Prevent draughts of either hot or cold air from reaching the plants.

Viscount Amory will also visit RCN Pacific Command headquarters at Esquimalt.

After a day in Vancouver, he will return here for the opening of the B.C. legislature Jan. 25. Then he will resume his tour of Canada.

Thetis Group Still After Watershed

Thetis Park Nature Sanctuary Association has resolved to continue its fight to get the 1,200-acre city-owned watershed dedicated as a natural park.

Prof. L. J. Clark, a director, said school children are making increasing use of the natural parkland for nature studies and biological students at Victoria College planned this year to use the area for their work.

The anniversary meeting was marked by the cutting of a birthday cake and the serving of refreshments.

Five years ago a small group composed of Prof. Clark, E. H. Lohbrunner, Miss M. C. Melburn, Dr. Adam Szwarcinski and Alfred de Mezey formed the association to protect the area from logging and commercial interests.

The group felt the land is more valuable as a wildlife sanctuary, a show place for out-of-town visitors and a natural park for the people of Greater Victoria.

DO IT NOW

Keep Winter Employment at Its Highest Possible Level

Now is the time to make improvements and repairs while skilled workers urgently need jobs. Workmen are now available for all types of work, painting, building, repairing, alterations. Have the work done now, during the winter slack period . . . keep business and employment going at full speed! When everybody works everybody benefits.

Winter Work Campaign Gets Desired Results

The Greater Victoria Winter Employment Campaign has steadily gained momentum during the seven years of the committee's work until now it is having a marked effect on local winter employment conditions. Many kinds of industries are now reporting that business has been increasing each winter and that this winter's work level is particularly good.

Employers are becoming quite enthusiastic about the campaign to a point where display material through the National Employment Office was barely enough to meet the demand.

DISPLAYS

Garages, tent and awning manufacturers and retail outlets of all kinds are making special displays to foster more winter work, and the local Milk Distributors Association have undertaken the task of distributing 25,000 pamphlets to homes throughout the Greater Victoria area.

The results as far as the number of unemployed persons are concerned shows up in the National Employment Office figures where 1,700 fewer people were seeking work in December than in the same period of last year, and also that the number of jobs being listed in that office during the fall months increased to 3,816 or approximately 600 more than last year.

ACCEPTED

As a result of the continued efforts of the committee, it is now the accepted pattern that large-scale projects such as the new courthouse and the Jubilee Hospital project shall all start in the late fall or winter so that at least two 'inters' work will be available. Householders, too, are beginning to realize that many of the jobs they need doing are done more satisfactorily during the winter.

The current situation reveals what this means to the working man and the general economy of the area.

Such diversified jobs as bookkeepers, cooks, kitchen workers, loggers, structural steel workers, machinists and auto mechanics are all showing greatly increased activity and greatly reduced numbers of those seeking work in these trades.

In women's work, also, there is a notable reduction in the number seeking clerical, stenographic, typing, cooking and various other classes of work.

All this points out the truth of the campaign slogan, "When everybody works, everybody benefits" and emphasizes the splendid results that can develop when a community is really supporting an effort of this kind.

Court Terms Assault Case 'Sordid Affair'

One man was found guilty and the charge against a second was dismissed in an assault charge which was heard in city police court Friday.

Magistrate William Ostler suspended sentence on Rudolph Appelshoffer, 23 Menzies, and then dropped the charge against Joseph Halasz of the same address.

Mrs. Pauline Merrifield, Kings Hotel, told the court she was struck by Appelshoffer and Halasz when Appelshoffer found her entertaining another man in an apartment the two had been sharing.

She said she received bruises on the chin and ear, and that her hearing was affected. Both men denied the assault.

In bringing down his judgment, the magistrate described the events as "a sordid affair."

Artillery Chief In City Jan. 29

Col. E. G. Brooks, Ottawa, director of artillery for the Canadian Army, opens a tour of artillery units of the militia in Alberta and B.C. Jan. 29 in Victoria.

Western Command headquarters in Edmonton said today Col. Brooks will visit the 5th Independent Medium Battery in Victoria Jan. 29 and the 15th Field Regiment in Vancouver the next day.

Dempsey-Marciano Bout Would Have Been 'Greatest'

By OSCAR FRALEY

MIAMI (UPI)—Gene Tunney, as a boxer and Rocky Marciano as a puncher were the greatest heavyweight champions since Jack Dempsey, Al (The Vest) Weill said today, and a Dempsey-Marciano bout would have been "the greatest fight of all time."

"Throw those two great punchers in together," Weill mused, his blue eyes lighting up, "and you'd have really seen some fireworks. It would have been murder incorporated."

Weill should know, having been associated briefly with Dempsey in the Manassas Mauler's early days and being the man who managed Marciano to the heavyweight title and a record of 49 fights without defeat.

"The Vest," so called because he once displayed a passionate predilection for gaudy waistcoats, has difficulty generating enthusiasm these days after a nine-month illness with a kidney ailment. He underwent eight blood transfusions and, after almost a year on the boxing sidelines, at 68 finally has come back to where he once again is itching to manage or promote.

Marciano was only one of Weill's champions. Al also piloted Joey Archibald to the featherweight title, Lou Ambers to the lightweight crown and Marty Servo to the welterweight championship.

"Ambers was the best," he insists. "He was tops in principles as well as ability."

The portly, white-haired man with the horn-rimmed glasses, in this statement, is prejudiced by a coolness in his relations with Marciano. Rocky became increasingly assertive as to his aim and intentions as he came down to the point of retirement and they are not particularly close even at this stage.

"We talked to each other," Weill hastens to interject. "He calls me up and so on. But he made a couple of pretty bad cracks about me. Rocky listened to too many fair weather friends. Club lawyers, I call 'em. I blame them for lookin' to get in with him. They've cost him a lot of money, too."

"Understand," he added, "I'm not knockin' Marciano. It's just that those fair weather friends told him he did it all by himself. Now you gotta have everything to win 49 without defeat. But you got to have a lot of help from your manager, too."

There are, Weill claims, those psychological moments when a needle from the manager is the difference.

"Like the night in Philadelphia we fight old Jersey Joe Walcott for the title," he said. "Look, I know we can't win the decision. Think what you want, but this is Walcott's home town. They're all for him, and that includes the officials. So when Rocky comes to the corner after the 12th round, I tell him 'you ain't got a chance less you knock him out.' So Rocky goes out there the next round and hits him a right that puts Joe away and we win the title."

Today there's a long, long road a winding behind him. But Al the Vest is looking ahead.

"There's kid on the coast ...," he started to say.

But, somehow, you know that, coolness and all, there will never be another Rocky Marciano.

LOOKS AT SPORTS

This has been a painfully disappointing week. Ever since last Saturday, this reader has awaited, in quivering anticipation, an announcement that the FBI or Dick Tracy had put the clutch on that fellow who relieved Santa Anita of $100,000. There has been no such announcement.

You heard about the chap, of course. At the last moment he toddled into the betting ring, put $3,000 on a thing called Justa Drizzle and waited for the money to pelt down. She smothered her field at $34.20 for $2. Net profit: $51,200.

Fishing in another pocket the same fellow withdrew 15 winning $10 dally double tickets. Since each winning $2 double ticket was redeemable for $661.80, our "just plain lucky" punter was forced to accept another $49,635.

Lovers of the turf have advanced various arguments in support of their claim that Justa Drizzle could have won without such aids as Sloan's Liniment or electric wiring.

One expert went so far as to say that Justa Drizzle may have been hidden after turning in morning workouts faster than the CNR Continental.

... Fragrance of a Logger's Socks

If this supposition is correct, the people who own the horse should immediately be placed in charge of our defence secrets. Hiding valuable information at a race track is about as common as keeping the size of your pay cheque away from your wife.

Around the city's cultural and athletic parlors the feeling is that the wagering coup has the fragrance of a pair of logger's socks.

This anonymous punter's fortune at least shattered the myth that the only way to make money at the races is to own the track. Except in B.C., that is, where the government take (21 per cent) is so high both owners and punters, in effect, work for the treasury board.

There is still another way to succeed with the ponies. Johnny Goglin's way. Last summer at Exhibition Park, young Goglin, a personable, tireless exercise boy, bought the colt, Midmarajah on the so-so-so plan. So much down, so much when he wins, so much when you catch me. The total price was $300.

With prayer, attention and good luck he plucked seven wins with the B.C.-bred. At Tanforan he made it two more, nine for 17 starts, and $9,500 in the bank.

John Parlayed $300 Into $14,500

Goglin dropped Midmarajah in for $5,000 at Santa Anita the other day. After the race he had an empty halter, a $5,000 cheque and somebody else took Midmarajah away.

Some owners would shudder at losing a $5,000 money-maker. Goglin shouldn't. He parlayed $300 into $14,500 in nine months.

Better still, he lost a horse with notoriously bad wheels. Bad? As Harry Fillon, the turf publicist said: "Every time he ran at Sandown, his back legs were bound in bandages. So were his front ones. He was a hospital case, a real disaster area."

Eager to try again, Goglin reached into the grab-bag Wednesday and came up with a four-year-old, Colday, for $5,000. Now if Goglin can parlay this one into winning the Maturity, they'll have to call in Reggie Fortune, Lord Peter Wimsey or Inspector Bull. Let Hoover and the FBI worry about penny ante betting coups.

Mention was made here this week of Stuffy McGinnis, the Independent's Athletic Association and the RCMP-William Head softball game he arranged last summer.

That the latter would be a smashing success staggered Stuffy. That it might have greater significance never occurred to him.

Yet a few weeks ago he was asked to come to the prison office.

"We are considering," Stuffy was told, "parole for one of the men. His conduct is excellent. His attitude has been good. He hasn't asked for anything. Not even parole."

"What's this got to do with me?" asked Stuffy.

"We wondered if you would be interested in accepting responsibility for him," Stuffy was told.

"Imagine," said Stuffy. "They asked me—not me really but the IAA—to do this. What did I say? I said, sure."

IAA and Stuffy will take care of the meals. Keith Doran, an IAA director, has a job lined up.

Has Stuffy met his guest yet?

"Yes, he was brought in after I agreed. I recognized him right away. He was the catcher on the William Head club. When they told him about it, he didn't say anything. There were tears in his eyes."

Kimberly Skier Hurt In 'Mouse Trap' Spill

KITZBUHEL, Austria (AP)

Canada's Garry Battistella suffered serious injuries in a fall in today's Hahnenkamm downhill ski race, first reports said.

Battistella, of Kimberley, B.C., fell in the so-called "Mouse Trap" of the Streif track, and was thrown into the trees. His crash helmet was cracked in the impact.

He suffered head and back injuries, a race official announced.

He was taken down on a stretcher and flown immediately to the Innsbruck Hospital.

The accident occurred on the fall of fellow Canadian John Semmelink, killed in the 1959 Kandahar downhill at Garmisch, West Germany. His death led to increased safety measures with wider tracks.

Bills Appoint Coach

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)

Lou Saban, director of player personnel for Buffalo Bills of the American Football League, was named the club's head coach Thursday.

He succeeds Gerald (Buster) Ramsey, dismissed two weeks ago.

The Mouse Trap is a somewhat narrower passage in the Streif track. The entire track was widened in recent years and passed all safety inspections.

A medical report from Innsbruck said Battistella seemed to have fractured a vertebrae. Witnesses said his fall was the most spectacular they had ever seen. Battistella catapulted into the trees, flying through the air for about 50 metres, they said.

He was taken down on a stretcher and flown immediately to the Innsbruck Hospital.

CUDDLY, BUT NOT LUCKY

Hoping to kindle flame of college spirit, Victoria College students trucked in ram, Ramses II, from Sidney farm to Esquimalt's Sports Centre Friday night to serve as Vikings' hockey mascot, Cuddling

Sheep Found But Game Lost

An old face and a new one showed up at Friday's Esquimalt District Hockey League games. One helped, the other didn't.

Chief Uhren, a familiar performer for Navy teams in the past, returned to the local hockey scene and sparked the last-place club to an 8-0 shut-out of Army.

The new face belonged to Ramses II, a jet-black ram brought in from a Sidney farm "to kindle the flame of college spirit." The mascot's appearance couldn't help Victoria College Vikings, who lost their second straight game, 3-2.

IMPROVE LEAD

Pontiac Chiefs' decision over Vikings extended the Esquimalt team's lead to three points.

Uhren, a standout, scored three goals to spark Navy's second victory. Johnny Bond and Bill McFarlane each added two and Gil Tighe accounted for the other.

Jim Bronson's second goal of the night—before a turnout of 900 fans—beat Vikings. Arnold Elliott scored Chiefs' other goal while Tom Kraill and Keith Neilligan connected for the second-place Vikings.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)

Marlene Streit of Toronto joined the gallery for today's semi-finals in the Doherty Women's Amateur Golf tournament for the first time in eight years.

Mrs. Streit, winner for the past three years and never less than a semi-finalist in the eight years she has competed here, faltered badly in the first of two rounds, Thursday and was eliminated, 2 and 1, by Ann Netsky of Philadelphia.

Dagg Captures Berth in Final

VANCOUVER (CP)

Lyall Dagg, of Vancouver, has claimed one of the two Lower Mainland berths in the Coast Curling final Jan. 27-28.

Dagg made a final draw shot to count three and edge Howie Christopherson, also of Vancouver, 7-6, here Friday night in the Lower Mainland's "A" final.

LIONS SIGN CHAMPION FOR ASSISTANT COACH

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Lions have signed Jim Champion, line coach for Mississippi State for the last five years, as assistant coach.

Champion, 35, will work under Dave Skrien, who was assistant coach of the Western Football Conference Lions last year until he replaced Wayne Robinson as coach.

Champion played two seasons with New York Giants and one with the Dallas Texans of the National Football League.

Skrien said Champion's main duties will be handling the defensive line of the Lions.

Standing Ovation For Canuck Goalie

VANCOUVER (CP)—When goaltender Claude Evans, a much-travelled hockey player, skated off the ice Friday night he received a standing ovation from the crowd.

You might have thought he had just led Vancouver Canucks to the Western League crown. He didn't. But he gave so much inspiration to the lowly Canucks that they belted the tough Calgary Stampeders 6-0.

It was Vancouver's first triumph over Calgary in seven meetings this season. The 28-year-old Evans was brilliant. He made 37 saves, 15 in the first period.

The 1,300 customers at Vancouver expressed their appreciation as Evans, who has performed in the National, American and Eastern Professional leagues, headed for the dressing room.

The Vancouver attackers were led by Larry Popen and Wayne Hall, who each fired two goals. George Ford and Bob McCusker added singles in Canucks' finest performance of the season.

Birdie Blast Helps Joe's Bid for Cash

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Young Joe Campbell, former United States college golf king, was making a strong bid for a major slice of prize money today as he led a storm-battered field into the third round of Bing Crosby's $50,000 tournament.

The 26-year-old star plodded through heavy rain and strong winds Friday to fire a one-under-par 71, giving him 138 at the halfway mark of the 72-hole event. The round included a blast from a sand trap on the 13th hole that dropped into the cup 35 feet away for a birdie.

Close on Campbell's heels was Jacky Cupit, 23-year-old rookie of the year on the U.S. golf trail in 1961. Cupit carded a 71 Friday for 139.

They were the only players to break par over the 6,701-yard Pebble Beach course in the miserable weather. Showers were forecast for today, with clear skies expected for Sunday's 18-hole windup.

The field is divided into three groups playing over different courses. Those at Pebble Beach and Cypress Point Friday found the going tougher than the group at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club, where trees can act as breaks for winds off the Pacific Ocean.

VENTURI MOVES UP
Ken Venturi, 1960 Crosby champion, carded a three-under-par 69 at Monterey to move into third place at 141.

At 142 were Phil Rodgers, Bob Harris and Doug Sanders. By tonight each golfer will have played each par-72 course.

Canadians were well down the list. Stan Leonard of Vancouver had the best score with 148 on a pair of 74s. Al Balding of Toronto and Wilf Homeniuk of Winnipeg were tied at 150. Balding had 18-hole rounds of 74 and 76, while Homeniuk had 76-74.

George Knudson of Toronto registered a couple of 76s for 152. Jerry Magee of Toronto had 76-77—153 and Al Johnston of Montreal 84-90—174.

Chuck Congdon, 52, of Tacoma, Wash., a co-leader with Campbell and Rodgers after the first round, couldn't cope with Friday's storm and soared to a 78 for a 145 total.

Brown Denies Alleged Offer For Stephens

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Cleveland Browns' coach Paul Brown today denied offering Minnesota quarterback Sandy Stephens a three-year, no-cus contract in excess of $30,000, plus a $20,000 bonus for signing.

Ted Worman, president of the Montreal Alouettes, cited the alleged offer in announcing his club was withdrawing "all previous offers" to Stephens.

"It just isn't true," Brown said. "It means that now they don't believe they can get Stephens so they say fantastic things in order to take the onus off the possible loss of the boy."

Brown likened the situation to "the Roman Gabriel case where Oakland blew up the figures after he'd signed with the Los Angeles Rams. As it turned out, Oakland never even talked with Gabriel."

Brown said he felt all along that New York Titans are the major competition to the Browns for the flashy quarterback.

OUTDOOR ACTIVITIES 'FROZEN'

The weatherman has thrown a king-sized wrench into the gears that help move most of Victoria's outdoor sporting activities.

Victoria District Soccer League's Jackson Cup final, scheduled for Royal Athletic Park this afternoon, was postponed along with all minor activity. Minor games postponed today will be replayed next week.

Also postponed were all minor rugby contests but officials of the Victoria Rugby Union were going to wait until "the last minute" before making a decision on senior division matches.

CURLING CUES

By MATT BALDWIN
Three-time Canadian Champion

The downfall of many a rink may stem from just plain stubbornness on the part of the skip or his seeming indifference to varying conditions that so often constitute the fine line between success and failure.

As you are aware, the skip is supposedly the person on the rink who calls the shots and directs strategy. Consequently, responsibility must rest heavily on his shoulders. This calls for constant vigilance so that he can take advantage of all kinds of little clues that can aid him in solving the intricacies of the particular sheet of ice on which he is playing.

He must be mentally alert. One of his most important functions (for this lies in with his own success at making shots) is to read ice. That means the amount that a stone pulls as it curls. And not for any one weight, either.

There is no money-back guarantee from one sheet to another that if on a draw shot, your rock curls 2 1/2 feet, then on a brisk takeout, you need give, say six inches. There can be no hard and fast rule, any attentive curler should soon realize. If you are alert, you will soon detect the variations from the norm, and chances are that if it does not give you an edge over your adversary, it will at least protect you from being at a serious disadvantage.

It is amazing just how many skips are negligent in this respect. They just don't seem to believe what they see.

Believe What You See on the Ice

There was a cynic who once said: "Believe nothing what you read or hear, and only half of what you see." Well, my advice to you is to throw this one out the window. I'd like you to believe what I'm telling you, and also what you see happening on the ice.

If a rock backs up or falls back, well, believe it. Just because it pulled two feet last week is no reason to assure yourself that this will happen now.

It is not just enough to watch what broom a skip gives his man to aim for. You must analyze the actual broom he hits, and how much the stone curls, before you come to your decision.

I will admit that if you play only in your own club, you can get to know the ice so that you can almost tell what a rock will do from night to night. But if you go bonspieling, which usually means an ever-changing scene of action, you must develop an almost fanatic concentration. That is the key to successful skipping, because each ice surface has its own individual characteristics.

You know, it is really wonderful that ice is such a variable. It may drive you out of your mind some days, but it is a mixed blessing. It makes the game much more interesting and challenging than if it was played on a perfectly flat surface with every rock behaving the same.

Just remember this: Crooked ice does help to make good curlers.

Cardinal, Osmond Record Decisions

VANCOUVER—British Columbia fighters got the best of a Ft. Lewis, Wash., contingent in an amateur boxing program here Friday night, with Canadian Army boxers from Esquimalt sharing the spoils with Vancouver-area competitors.

Canadian champion Egon Bretzner of Vancouver scored the only knockout of the night when he got Charlie Greco of Ft. Lewis with a solid left hook at 25 seconds of the third round in a 165-pound main event.

Former Canadian champion in the 156-pound class, Larry Cardinal of the Esquimalt-based PPCLI, pounded his way to a decision over Ft. Lewis army champ Clarence Petty.

Another PPCLI representative, Pte. Cal Osmond, won a decision over Wayne Duncan of Burnaby in a 139-pound match. Only other PPCLI fighter to see action was Sgt. Ed Remin, who dropped a decision to Vancouver heavy-weight Don Homer.

Control of Bowie Sold to Canadians

BALTIMORE (AP)—Sale of control of Bowie race track in Southern Maryland to Canadian interests was announced Friday.

E. R. E. Carter, 38-year-old president of Patino Limited of Canada will acquire 46 per cent of the stock.

A syndicate headed by Don

Walsh said the sale of stock will be completed Feb. 7. A new Maryland Corporation will be formed to operate Bowie during a 40-day meeting starting two days later.

Walsh said Lillis will be retained as president of the new corporation while Carter will be chairman of the board.

In Toronto, Carter said the transaction was arranged through an American affiliate of Patino, Patino Mines and Enterprises, in which the Canadian company has 46 per cent interest.

The American affiliate bought the track outright, he said, and will own the remaining 54 per cent of the stock.

A native of Saint John, N.B., Carter is also president and director of Copper Rand Chibougamau Mines Limited, the Nipissing Mines Company and Advocate Mines Limited.

IN HISTORIC GAME

Smail, Hyland Join Oldtimers

Two men who took part in the first hockey game ever played on artificial ice will return to Victoria for next Saturday's old-timers' game at Memorial Arena.

Walter Smail, famed member of the Victoria Senators, and Harry Hyland, then with New Westminster Royals, have agreed to travel from Montreal for the centennial event that will mark the 50th anniversary of that historic game.

Played at the old Willows arena on Jan. 2, 1912, the game was won by Hyland's Royals.

ALL-ROUND ATHLETE

In a letter to centennial sports committee chairman Doug Fletcher, Smail, a noted all-round athlete, says he is anxious to meet fans who attended early professional games at the Willows. Sections 36 and 37 at Memorial Arena have been reserved for fans of that era.

Two of the National Hockey League's most famous forward lines are slated to oppose each other at the start of the old-timers' game, which will consist of three 20-minute periods with no time-outs.

Opening for the Blues will be the once-mighty "Kraut Line" of Boston Bruins—Woody Dumart, Bobby Bauer and Milt Schmidt, who finished one-two-three in the 1939-40 NHL scoring parade. Colorful Babe Pratt and Neill Colville are due to start on defence for the Blues, who will have Jack McGill guarding their goal.

Scheduled to start on the front line for the Whites is the dippy doodling trio of Chicago Black Hawks—Max Bentley, Bill Mosienko and Doug Bentley, who terrorized opposing goaltenders in the 1940s. On defence, the Whites plan to start Dave MacKay, Chicago's rookie-of-the-year in 1941-42, and Les Vickery. Slated for goal is "Tiger" Mitchell, formerly with the amateur New York Rovers.

Another line may be formed by Clint Smith, Bobby Love and Tony Lessick. Hal Lay-

Grey Ghosts Clip Vics in Overtime

By GORDON POLLARD

While the traditional visit of Lord Byng Grey Ghosts and regular encounters with Oak Bay have produced some of high school basketball's finest games on the Victoria High floor, one would have considerable difficulty convincing an overflow crowd of over 650 fans that the rivalry did not reach a peak Friday.

Sinking two straight baskets in the dying moments of a second overtime period, Lord Byng forward Dave Gardner became the man of the hour as Grey Ghosts edged George Andrews' Vic High Totems 80-76 in an opening-round game of an inter-city tournament.

Gardner, who totalled 27 points during the night, had to share some glory with tall Jan Hunter, who scored 33 in a high performance for Lord Byng. John Lauvaas, with 27, and Dave Gawley, with 13 points, spearheaded Totems' attack.

Scene of action changes to night although the cast remains intact. Oak Bay and Vic High meet for the first time this season at 7:30 while Grey Ghosts pace Vancouver College at 8:30 in the tournament final. Tonight's games will be played at Oak Bay High.

Even the weather got into Friday's act. High winds caved in two gym windows to hold up play for about half an hour.

Scene of action changes to night although the cast remains intact. Oak Bay and Vic High meet for the first time this season at 7:30 while Grey Ghosts pace Vancouver College at 8:30 in the tournament final. Tonight's games will be played at Oak Bay High.

MINOR HOCKEY JAMBOREE

Make a Monday Date To Take Boy to Arena

What some boys do with their spare time after they reach the age of 18 may be something of a puzzle to many parents. But there is no mystery at all about what thousands of under-18s want to do in the winter time.

They want to play hockey.

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's annual Minor Hockey Week will be observed in towns small and large starting today. The theme, as it always has been, is "Don't send—take your boy to the arena."

Last season, 124,682 boys played hockey on registered CAHA teams. Thousands more played on teams that were not affiliated.

This year, about 8,700 youngsters are registered with the B.C. Hockey Association, including over 450 from the Victoria area.

TO DRAW ATTENTION

The idea behind Minor Hockey Week is to draw public attention to what is going on. In too many instances, parents are content to know that their boys are playing hockey—that they are at the rink on certain nights.

During the season, many parents seem to show little interest in how their boys are getting along and how they are being handled. Minor Hockey Week is the CAHA's to lure parents to arenas to observe how the youngsters are progressing and to pay tribute to coaches and officials in the minor ranks.

Victoria's annual Minor Hockey Night show goes Monday. Twenty-four teams will take part in the jamboree sponsored by the Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association.

There'll be games, door prizes and dignitaries.

EVERY TICKET HELPS

It's the main opportunity the GVMHA has to raise funds. Minor hockey is a big business. This year, for example, the GVMHA is faced with expenses of over $4,000—an all-time high. Of that total, $2,500 will be spent on ice rentals. Every ticket purchase helps ease the burden.

Monday's program, starting at 6:30 p.m., will include 10 games with all GVMHA divisions represented.

Monday's schedule:

6:30 p.m. — Peewees, Flyers vs. Bombers.
7:00 p.m. — Bantams, Capitals vs. Vancouver.
7:30 p.m. — Peewees, Capitals vs. Flyers.
8:00 p.m. — Midgets, Comets vs. Bombers.
8:30 p.m. — Opening ceremonies.
9:00 p.m. — Tom Thumb League, Division 1.
9:15 p.m. — Tom Thumb League, Division 2.
9:30 p.m. — Bantams, Tigers vs. Bombers.
9:45 p.m. — Midgets, Barons vs. Indians.
10:00 p.m. — Bantams All-Stars vs. Midget Beers.
10:15 p.m. — Midget All-Stars vs. Peewees.

Lawyer Pleads

Guilty to Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles Tucker a Yonkers, N.Y., lawyer, Thursday pleaded guilty in connection with an indictment accusing him of bribery and attempting to bribe college basketball players.

Judge Joseph Sarafite of general sessions court continued the young lawyer on $1,000 bail, pending sentencing Feb. 21 on the misdemeanor.

ETIQUETTE SAYS 'YES' BUT COURT RULES 'NO'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If a golfer doesn't shout "fore" and his ball hits a caddy, is he legally negligent?

No, a superior court jury decided Friday in a $10,000 civil damage suit.

Professional caddy Thomas O. Cleary, 52, had sued Attorney Edward Zuckerman, alleging a Zuckerman drive Sept. 5, 1958, at the Brentwood Country Club struck him on the head.

The lawyer contended Cleary was standing near the fairway at his own risk, knowing the drive was coming, and did not exercise due care.

GALT MANAGER SAYS:

U.S., Czechs Teams to Beat

GALT, Ont.—The manager of Canada's entry in the world amateur hockey championship picks Czechoslovakia and the United States as the teams to beat.

"I'm not belittling our own club," said Galt Terriers' manager Len Gaudette, "but the days of Canada walking away with top honors are gone. The Europeans are on a par with our amateurs now."

The Czechs tied Trail in the world tournament at Geneva, Switzerland, last year, but Canada won on the strength of a better goal average.

Canada's schedule, showing date, time (Pacific Standard) and opponents, is:

March 8, 2:30 p.m., PST, East Germany.
March 10, 11 a.m., Russia.
March 11, 2:30 p.m., Finland.

PLEASE HELP SISTER DRAW

Sister is thinking of something that she wants to draw. If only she knew how to draw it. Will you show her how?

Using a pencil—or a green crayon—draw a line from dot 1 to dot 2, to 3, 4 etc., until you have touched all of the dots.

Before drawing your line, perhaps you can guess the subject Sis has in mind. Here's a hint: It's a creature with sharp claws, a sharp beak, and often a sharp tongue!

What is it, anyway?

Speaking of tongues, here's a riddle to ponder:

What tongue can twist and wag, yet never utters a sound? Answer quickly, if you can.

TAKE A TRIP?

It's fun to take a trip via the imagination—contemplating a vacation journey, perhaps. Let us suppose a certain destination is indicated by each of the following clues. Can you name it?

1. All roads lead to it, 'tis said.

2. A Canadian city whose fate was decided on the Plains of Abraham.

3. The city that's just around Bunker Hill.

4. A South American city that harbors Sugar Loaf Mountain.

5. The national park were Old Faithful spouts off.

6. The Near East city of the Wailing Wall.

7. Where the Plaza de Armas is the centre of town.

8. Where Big Ben booms.

9. The City of Magnificent Distances.

10. The City of Monuments.

ask henry

The writer of this weekly advice column is an 11-year-old boy. The advice he gives is strictly his own. It has not been changed by his parents or the editor. He welcomes letters from parents. If you want him to discuss your problem write to ASK HENRY, in care of this newspaper.

Dear Henry:

I am a firm believer in children helping out with jobs around the house. I was brought up that way but I am not successful with my son who is 11 now. Although he doesn't mind helping he always ends up doing something else. For example, I've been taking him out to shovel snow off the driveway, but he turns out making a snowman or just playing. How can I put his mind to work?

HAD ENOUGH

Dear Had Enough:

To make a boy work, which he may usually shirk, make it seem like a game. My dad does the same. Let him use the driveway's snow to build a tall fort. Then watch him burrow. He'll think it great sport.

Dear Henry:

I have two brothers whom I love very much. I am the oldest child and quite often I am put in charge of them. I often get mad when they are bad and I think that they are starting to dislike me. I am 11 and my brothers are nine and six. What should I do? I love reading your answers in the paper. They are very good.

DISAPPOINTED

Dear Disappointed:

When your mother gets mad at you, you don't like her (and you show it). But after you've cooled off, you still love your mom. It's the same with your brothers.

Dear Henry:

As a mother of a son 13, and a daughter 11, I was interested in the letter from "Can't sit down." Your suggestion that he be confined in his room is no punishment, perhaps with a transistor radio or a comic book to keep him company? I've found with my two when they are naughty, nothing brings results like a firm application of my hairbrush on the bare bottom. Seldom if ever does a paddling at our house have to be repeated and my two are not resentful about a deserved penalty.

ANOTHER SPANKING MOM

Dear Another Spanking Mom:

Your children are now 13 and 11. You had your easy way out. I think that from now on you will have to use your head rather than your hand. When an older kid is spanked, so much pride is hurt that it burns up inside and he could knock the whole house down.

The sixth is in vineyard, but not in grape.
The seventh is in pig, not in ham.
The eight in jelly, but not in jam.
Now guess what flower I am.

Longest Liner At Sea

LONDON (CP)—Le France, $30,000,000 flagship of the French Line, sailed today on her maiden voyage to the Canary Islands. She starts her regular run to New York on Feb. 3.

The 66,000-ton liner is billed as the longest ship in the world. Her 1,035 feet gives her a four-foot edge over the Queen Elizabeth. Le France will carry up to 2,044 passengers; 590 in first-class accommodation. There are 11 decks, a theatre also used as a wide-screen movie house, and what shipping correspondents call the "longest bar afloat."

Le France replaces La Liberté, a smaller ship.

OF ALL PLACES

By HORACE SUTTON

Dreams of Winter Hideaway

NEW YORK—I could easily on demand reel off 10 places I would rather be now than New York is a winter festival.

Home may be where the hearth is, but the feet are where the slush is and in the head there is the cold. Urge me and cajole me and I will recite the litany of where I would be if I had my druthers and a barrel of drachmas.

Sentence me for a fortnight to the sands of Acapulco and I will promise to lie on Morning Beach in the mornings. Install me in a tower suite at El Presidente looking off to the sea where Manila Galleons came sliding in from the ports of mystery decked with China silks and spices and tea. Or stash me away, if worst comes to worst, in a marble-lined bungalow at Las Brisas, where a noiseless flunkie leaves a pot of coffee on the terrace, and the fruit is chill in the icebox. Thus breakfasted, I will start the day in my private swimming pool, of which the management has a score or more on lease and loan.

Set me adrift in a sailboat from the metropolis of Las Croabas on the coast of Puerto Rico and point me in the direction of Icaos, a miniscule atoll bordered with sand, but devoid of people, and news of K, and reports from the bureau of weather.

Fishing boats, when they are not fishing, are the transportation for idlers like me, and the fish-house restaurants by the Las Croabas shore will stack a lunch and a basket of beer.

There will be no waiters in uniform on yonder shore, no hotels with casinos, or loud-speakers shouting "Telephone call for Mr. Feldsnogle". There will, for that matter, only be the beach and the basket of beer and the lunch and that will be James dandy and A-okay with me. And when the sun is done and I am medium rare, the skipper will hoist anchor and we will sail back to Las Croabas, a day's work well done.

Tuck me away in a cottage at CANCEL, a bay on the Island of St. John in the Virgins of the U.S. I will sleep in the splendor of Danish designers and emerge in the ayem, as they call it in the Broadway columns, and be on the sand in a step and two more will put me in the turquoise sea.

On days alive with ambition, should any arise, I will hie off to the great white beach at Trunk Bay or explore the ruins of the plantations where the Danes grew sugar, and also fat and rich in days gone by. I will sail as well to Virgin Corda in the British Isles where the sand is said to be talcum and discovery is a year away.

Plant me on a key of the U.S. keys, especially when the typhoons are still. I will take a boat with the Audubon birdmen and chug across Florida Lake in search of roseate spoonbills and egrets and such. And if the sun sizzles the forehead and peels the proboscis, it is all in the interest of nature study, and who can complain about noble purpose.

Should there be time I will take up ichthyology as well and put out in a small boat from Islamorada, let us say, and look for bonefish in the milk green flats.

If the U.S. keys are crowded, then I'll take one in the Bahamas where they are spelled cays and are just as warm, and if anything a little more off-key, or cay. I will take the glories of Harbour Island stashed in a cottage colony called Pink Sands and you can leave me there until I moult, which will surely not be before spring.

I will spend the days in a deep wooden chair in the valley between two dunes; with the reeds to tickle my toes and the beach below to perform similarly on my fancy. And I guess I could put up with a time or two in the middle of Eleuthera where a place called French Leave has been planted on a beach that is equally pink and very nearly endless.

And the food is a poem by Escoffier, the laureate of the ladie, and fans spin in the ceiling of the bar as it is were Pago Pago.

Put me down, as long as you're putting, on the runway at Bora Bora, where the reef circles the island and the volcano is steep like a cathedral, and the cops wear French hats and shorts.

The French have finished Tahiti, but Bora Bora is still off the track and one Californian has been wise enough to build a hotel there which is a small delight. The smiles are easy on Bora Bora; the drums still rumble the erotic beat, and nobody bothers to talk about the weather, for it is always about the same.

Deposit me ever so gently on a far Hawaiian shore, and put me in a bridal suite with a lanai overlooking the shore, and I may be moved not to complain about the buildings that blot out the sea. I'll ride up the Manoa Valley to remember how things look when they're green, and have lunch at the Waioli Tea Room in the shadow of the grass hut where Robert Louis Stevenson did some writing when the frost was on the fatterland.

Put me down in Phoenix with a tag marked Scottsdale, Ariz. Let them dress me in jeans and a silly hat and waltz me out to the mesa, and I'll listen to the cowboy ditties if they will let me have a bowl of chili beans and biscuits baked in a Dutch oven.

Then take me up to Wickenburg, for if I am anything I am a dude. And I will descend on a dude ranch and keep watch over the pool and an eye on the sky, and a seat on the chaise till this winter thing blows over.

Strand me in Palm Springs and you'll hear no plaintive wail from me. I'll take the cure in the spa that was once the Indian's well, or a picnic in the canyons under the spires of the bearded palms, or a seat by the pool at the Racquet Club and watch the stars flash by.

And that reminds me that it feels like June these days in the River of January, also known as Rio de Janeiro. The Brazilians no doubt are gambling on the broad strand called Copacabana and sitting around the pool at Copacabana Palace thinking expensive thoughts.

The Argentinians are down at Mar del Plata and those who are not are punting at Punta del Este on the Uruguayan river.

Colorful Tangier Declared Free Port

CASA BLANCA, Morocco (AP)—The once thriving port city of Tangier, which served as a haven for smugglers and international speculators, hopes to regain some of its old glitter in 1962.

A royal decree has reinstated storied Tangier as a free port. A free industrial zone will be added gradually. King Hassan II of Morocco took the measure because of Tangier's deteriorating economic situation.

Ever since the free port was abolished in April, 1960, at the instigation of Marxist Economy Minister Abderrahim Bouabid, economic stagnation has crept over the city of 150,000. Within six months, 900 financial and commercial firms dissolved and 20 out of 30 banks closed their doors.

The once famous night clubs became empty as thousands of foreign tourists crossed Tangier off their itineraries.

Moroccan authorities announced that the new Tangier zone will be "as liberal as possible."

It will be free from all duty and customs controls and will not be governed by Morocco's fiscal regulations. However, the government warned that special police will make sure that international regulation on the traffic of drugs and explosives are observed.

Canadian Pacific Airlines started in 1942 with amalgamation of 10 independent air services in western and northern Canada.

'CHRIST IS OUR CORNERSTONE'

CORNERSTONE OF SUNSET LODGE LAID

Campaign Hits Triumphant Climax

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
The long campaign to build a stately old people's home overlooking Victoria Harbor ended on a note of triumph today when Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes laid the cornerstone of the Salvation Army's Matson Sunset Lodge at 847 Dunsmuir.

With completion of the residence next May, more than 2,000 elderly citizens across Canada will be cared for by the Salvation Army—and 140 of them will take up residence in the $900,000 Matson Sunset Lodge.

Brilliant sunshine, contrasting with the searching, biting cold, smiled on the stone-laying ceremony attended by high officials of the Salvation Army, civic dignitaries and representatives of the armed services.

'To God, Service'

The grey cornerstone laid by Mr. Pearkes at the entrance to the building is inscribed to "the glory of God and the Service of Mankind."

"I congratulate you on a splendid achievement," the governor said.

The ceremony, held in what will be one of the big recreation rooms, followed a typical Salvation Army service beginning with the hymn:

"Christ is our cornerstone On Him alone we build."

Commissioner Wycliffe Booth, territorial commander for Canada, who was introduced to the gathering by Brig. Cliff Milley of Victoria, announced that Brig. and Mrs. Victor Underhill of Vancouver will be in charge of the new Matson Sunset Lodge.

21 Others Exist

He said Canada is becoming "increasingly conscious" of the needs of its older citizens.

"We believe the Salvation Army has a special responsibility in making their sunset years happy."

Commissioner Booth said 21 homes similar to Matson Lodge are now operated by the Salvation Army across Canada.

The largest of these is the Arthur Meighen Home in Toronto which has 163 residents.

"In B.C. we have a very special responsibility," he said, "since more than 34,000 of the people of this great province are over 65 years of age."

"We now have six homes in which more than 100 old people are accommodated."

'Sociable Living'

In an interview Commissioner Booth said the Salvation Army homes are specially designed to promote "sociable living" in that the residents have to pass through the recreation rooms to reach the dining room.

"This is very desirable as elderly persons sometimes tend to keep to themselves," he said.

Many of the Victoria citizens who helped the Salvation Army to raise $245,000 for the new Matson Lodge—and over shoot the target by more than $18,000—attended the ceremony.

They included Times publisher Stuart Keate who was chairman of the campaign and Mrs. Alvena "Penny" Campbell who recruited and directed 500 women in a residential canvass.

Ex-Mayor and Mrs. Percy Scurrah also attended.

Prayers were offered by Brig. Arnold Brown, the Salvation Army's special efforts secretary in Toronto; Mrs. Commissioner Booth gave a scripture reading, and the hymn singing was led by the Victoria Citadel Band.

The trowel used by Mr. Pearkes in laying the stone was presented to him by John

Wade of the firm of Wade Stockhill & Armour, who designed the building.

Residents of the old Sunset Lodge at 952 Arm Street were prevented from attending the ceremony by the severe cold.

The new home will be considered by Brigadier and Mrs. Underhill towards the end of February.

Woman Saved As Home Burns

Husband Found Amid Flames

Esquimalt firemen rescued a woman from the second floor of her home late Friday night when fire broke out on the floor below.

The blaze caused $2,000 damage to the 1208, Lyall Street home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Miller.

Mrs. Miller was saved by firemen and Mr. Miller is reported in fair condition in the Royal Jubilee Hospital today with third-degree burns to the upper part of his body.

Mrs. Miller was admitted to the same hospital suffering shock. She is in fairly good condition.

Firemen were called to the Miller home—just a block and a half from the station—at about 11:20 p.m.

They found Mr. Miller, aged about 50, in the living room where a chesterfield and the surrounding area were ablaze.

Mrs. Miller was trapped upstairs, Chief Gilbert Stancombe said. Firemen rescued her through a window.

CITY TO SEND SIGN BILL TO COLLEGE

The recent centennial sign escapade may cost Victoria College or the student Alma Mater Society close to $50.

The bill, sent by the city, will be for cost of re-erecting the sign after its recovery Friday at the college, not for damage.

Police and city officials who have seen the sign, under lock and key, say there is no damage to the paint and gold leaf surface.

The four-by-eight-foot board was taken Wednesday at about 2 p.m. from over the main entrance to City Hall by five men pretending to be city employees.

It was discovered on a college building early Friday and the men responsible are believed to be students although no official confirmation of this has, or is likely, to be forthcoming.

MONTE ROBERTS

The Board of Directors of the Old Jokes' Home held an emergency meeting Friday night.

The meeting was held at the request—nay, the demand—of more than a dozen constituents who took umbrage at a decision of the board with respect to the aged and infirm "furry" joke.

The one about the furry with the singe on top, remember?

The Board of Directors refused the "furry" joke admittance to the Spoonerized Pun wing of the Old Jokes' Home, on the grounds that "furry with a singe on top" is not a true Spoonerized Pun.

The directors pointed out that one of the "furry" in "Surrey with a Fringe on top" became lost in the "furry" joke, thus disqualifying it for membership.

Well, since this was duly reported in this space last Monday, supporters of this old joke have been buzzing around me like wolves hounding a wounded deer.

They claim that the joke's case was not accurately presented to the Board of Directors, and that this is all my fault.

For my part, I am willing to accept part of the blame, but must share it with the anonymous gentleman in the Hotel Douglas sarsaparilla dispensary who asked me to present the joke to the board.

But enough of shifting responsibility. To make amends, I called the emergency meeting aforementioned and, arising on a point of privilege, presented the "furry" joke in amended form:

The furry in question, see, instead of a hat, was wearing a long metal tube with a rubber ball on the end of it. Thus making him the furry with a syringe on top.

You will be glad to know the Board of Directors admitted the joke in its new form. They then resigned; I cannot figure out why.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A special centennial trading coin will be put into circulation April 21 throughout Vancouver Island by the Victoria Kiwanis Club.

Made of bronze, with a value of $1, it will be honored by merchants participating in the scheme and redeemable at face value at any Kiwanis Club office.

Although it will be a trading coin, club officials expect a great number to be bought by coin collectors and souvenir hunters before they are withdrawn from circulation Oct. 31.

Capital City Branch of the Color Photographic Association of Canada, will meet on Monday at 8 p.m. at the residence of Alex Gray, 1507 Athlone Drive.

Slides of Australia and New Zealand will be shown.

A new co-ordinator for Victoria's centennial celebrations to replace Archie Wells will be chosen from 12 applicants Monday morning.

The choice will be made at a meeting of city representatives and the Centennial Committee at 9:30 a.m.

The regular weekly meeting of the committee will follow.

A handy cold weather tip was phoned into the Times today by Victor Standerwick, 1025 Bay.

If the furnace seems to be working without producing much heat cover about two-thirds of the cold air intake inside the house.

This will lessen the amount of cold air taken in by the furnace and result in the delivery of hot instead of just mildly warm air.

NADEN BARRACK BLOCK WORK TO START SOON

Commonwealth Construction Co. of Vancouver will soon start work on a 180-man barracks block at HMCS Naden, R. H. Ansley, vice-president of the company, said today.

Work will take about six months, and will be started as soon as official contract is signed, he said.

The new building, to cost about $473,000, will be situated close to the Nelles Block, the present barracks for sailors who live in HMCS Naden.

Commonwealth also built the Nelles Block. One of its most recent construction jobs in Victoria was the B.C. Electric Building.

Reason for the new quarters is the recently authorized expansion of the armed forces. The army garrison at Work Point has also asked for a 180-man barracks block as they expand to full establishment and it is understood Defence Construction Ltd. has called tenders.

SOD-TURNING CEREMONY

'Monetary Liquid' Needed by College

Citizens of Greater Victoria today were charged with the duty of seeing that their new university did not "wither and die" for want of "monetary liquid."

Judge J. B. Clearihue, chairman of the college council, said in a speech prepared for delivery at the sod-turning ceremony on the new campus of Victoria College the university belonged to Victorians for the benefit of their children.

"I would remind the citizens of Greater Victoria that every sod dug out of the earth, unless watered and cared for will wither and die," he said.

"And so it is that when I dig out our symbolic sod, it too will wither and die unless it is watered and cared for over a period of many years by the citizens of Greater Victoria with monetary liquid with a golden hue."

The turning of the first sod marks the beginning of a $5-million development program.

This afternoon's ceremony was attended by college, civic, and provincial officials as well as by students and friends of the college.

At a reception following the sod-turning itself, demonstrations by the Students' Council, the University Development Board, the Alumni Association, and a number of faculties were on view.

Other speakers were Mayor R. B. Wilson, chairman of the University Development Board and Education Minister Leslie Peterson. Guests were welcomed by college principal, Dr. W. H. Hickman.

Gulf of Georgia's Log Race Set to Finish at Ogden Point

Vancouver to Victoria will be the course for this year's Gulf of Georgia predicted log race, a top-rated cruiser event to be held April 28.

The finish will be off the Ogden Point jetty and later the cruisers will berth in the Inner Harbor.

FOR CENTENARY

Officials of the race committee said today the course and date were set at a meeting this week. Four possible courses were studied but Victoria was chosen as the finishing point to coincide with the capital's centennial year celebrations.

A total of 46 boats entered the 1961 race and more are expected this year.

Clubs to be represented will include the Royal City Yacht Club of New Westminster, the Burrard Yacht Club, the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, the Na-naimo Yacht Club and the West Vancouver Yacht Club. Both the 1960 and 1961 races were won by Burrard's Ralph Maddison, 1962 chairman of the race committee.

BONNER STUDY REVEALS

No Cause or Cure In Hunting Deaths

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today a study of hunting deaths by his department "doesn't give much clue" how to avoid them.

The study was launched last December after a number of inquests queried the cause and prevention of fatal accidents. There were four hunting deaths on Vancouver Island last year.

Bonner said he does not agree that an automatic charge should be laid against a hunter who shoots someone. "That should be done only

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Can you give me the address in London of Roy Thomson, Canadian multi-millionaire publisher? Mrs. J.M.C.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Cold Brings Joy To Skaters

Wrapped in mufflers and wobbling on skates, Victorians young and old sallied out today on the gleaming sheets of ice that have formed throughout the area in the current cold spell.

Judging by the crowds, the most popular spots were: Panama Flats, between Carey Road and Interurban.

Quick's Pond, between West Saanich Road and Wilkinson. The yacht pond on Dallas Road.

A flooded field behind the Wilkinson Road mental home, near Hastings.

Police do not recommend skating on any of the frozen lakes or deep ponds in the area. This includes Swan Lake.

Also listed as unsafe and dangerous is the creek and adjoining reservoir at Colwood golf course.

Skating is banned in Beacon Hill Park.

Parks administrator Herbert Warren has been given authority to spend up to $1,000 to facilitate public skating on ice sheets within the city.

Victoria Host To Drama Test

Victoria will play host to plays and players from throughout B.C. March 26-29 when the regional contest of the Dominion Drama Festival is held at Oak Bay Junior High School.

Of 14 regional contests, eight will be chosen to attend the Dominion Festival May 14-16 in Winnipeg.

Adjudicator for the B.C. region will be actor and CBC television producer David Gardner.

Some of that government business of Mr. Bennett's, according to another agent, was to try to reason Ottawa out of its blunt stand on ferry subsidies.

FROM THE PRESS GALLERY

Less than a week and politics are in season—the legislative session opens Thursday.

Here are some questions for 1962, leftovers from the 1961 session:

What says the special survey into gasoline and oil prices? Promised by Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan in answer to protests about the gas tax boost last year, the survey is complete and may suggest a way to equalize prices which fluctuate like the mercury across the province.

Are there changes in the Liquor Act to provide equal privileges for Indians? Attorney-General Robert Bonner promised to try at the last session.

Where is Victoria's new, mental hospital? It was given top priority by Premier Bennett last year.

Will there be more labor legislation, as threatened by Labor Minister Leslie Peterson at the climax of all-night debate on the checkoff law?

Where is the royal commission on the Workmen's Compensation Act, as Mr. Peterson promised in '61?

Has the government really subsidized the PGE Railway for $5,000,000 after enabling legislation last year?

Add one new prediction to those already listed here at year's end for new legislation: a full revision of the Securities Act.

This was to be done last year, but entanglement with other laws such as the Companies Act forced postponement.

However, everything's set this year, and the new act will be "patterned on Ontario's legislation, although it won't be as elaborate. It will, however, have considerable impact on the business world, and some of its fringe operators."

It probably will entail fuller disclosure of all background details involved in stock promotion schemes.

It may also include a safeguard for people who fall for high-pressure appeals by telephone stock salesmen.

Has Premier Bennett suddenly lost interest in the Columbia River?

He and Finance Minister Donald Fleming are supposed to be doing their darndest to get together on the subject.

But the premier says no dates have been set for a meeting, despite Mr. Fleming's request for one.

"The matter is . . . uh . . . under consideration," says Mr. Bennett.

The premier had hoped for a meeting in Toronto last weekend; but Mr. Fleming told him he couldn't make it. However, a spy reports they both stayed in the same hotel that weekend (unbeknownst?).

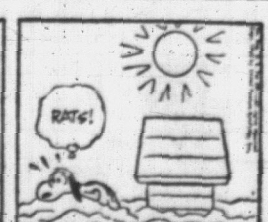

Mr. Fleming was there for a Tory 75th birthday whoop-te-do; Mr. Bennett on undisclosed "government business."

Some of that government business of Mr. Bennett's, according to another agent, was to try to reason Ottawa out of its blunt stand on ferry subsidies.

The premier would like to have his cake—the full subsidy on new ferries and engines—and eat it, by awarding the engine contract to the low bidder from Britain, Ruston and Hornsby. Ottawa insists on a Canadian engine in order to qualify for the full 40 per cent subsidy.

Although it's only a million-dollar contract, the issue has serious repercussions, for it affects the whole currently-tough Canada U.K. trade relationship.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker promised his government would switch 15 per cent of its trade from the U.S. to Britain, but you don't woo British trade by insisting on made-in-Canada goods.

Official hostess during days of the session for the past ten years has been May Bennett, wife of the present Premier of British Columbia. Mrs. Bennett will again sit at the left of the Speaker's chair at opening of the Legislature next Thursday. With her husband and members of the executive council and their wives, she will act as hostess at a reception in the Empress Hotel following the opening.

Ornate gold, red and black cover of a four-page invitation to opening of the Legislative Buildings on Feb. 10, 1898. Second page contained the invitation; third, a picture of the new buildings, and the fourth the names of the Lieutenant-Governor, members of the executive council and the legislative assembly at that time. Immediately the Lieutenant-Governor left the legislature after the ceremonies, the session started in the new House.

Then . . . And Now

To mark beginning of Victoria's centennial year and also opening of the third session of the 26th Legislative Assembly of the province on January 25, 1962, past and present is combined on this page today, with a flashback to opening of the Legislative Buildings 64 years ago, and pictures of the three women prominent in those ceremonies and then a short preview of next week's opening ceremonies, with pictures of the wives of the present day Lieutenant-Governor, the Premier and the Mayor of the city.

It was at 3.15 the afternoon of February 10, 1898, that Lieutenant-Governor Thomas R. McInnes turned a golden key in the locks and opened the massive doors of the Legislative Buildings for the first time. Outside the sun shone through banks of clouds; there was skirling of pipes and music of the Fifth Regiment Band; detachments from navy and army stood at attention, and the National Anthem rang out. Crowds cheered and a new flag fluttered from the giant flagpole.

Within, the building was crowded with the "cream of society," to use reporting terms of the day. Patriotic anthems were sung by the Arion Club; prayers were offered by bishops of the church and the formalities of the opening began.

As soon as the Lieutenant-Governor left the new building, session of the Legislature started with Attorney-General David McEwan Eberts, QC, introducing the first Bill of the session, amending the Executive Act by repealing Section 51 of the measure.

First piece of correspondence was a congratulatory message from Lord Aberdeen, Governor-General of Canada. A gavel, made from teakwood in the historic steamer Beaver, and with coin-shaped pieces of copper on both ends of the head, was presented to Hon. Mr. Speaker, D. W. Higgins, from C. W. McCain of Vancouver.

Crowds massed in the lobbies where Pipers W. A. Anderson, Murdock Macdonald and young Jimmie McKenzie "skirled away" under the dome. Red-coated marines kept the lobby open for invited guests to enter the House.

Later in the afternoon the Fifth Regiment Band played in the big lobby while thousands of Victorians "milled around the building." In the evening Piper Macdonald "marched up and down playing the pipes with great effect."

The new clock on the wall of the Legislative Chamber got into the news. According to reports it "broke all records and was still laps ahead." It recorded 9.45 p.m., when the session adjourned at 4.15 p.m.

One story said, "there is a possibility that the clock may be useful in checking verbose speakers before the closing of the session ends."

at the opening of the Legislative Assembly in the Parliament Buildings on Thursday, January 25th, 1962, at 3 p.m.

Neat black and white invitation for opening of the Legislature on January 25, 1962, merely has the crest in gold.

At opening of the Legislative Assembly next Thursday the picture will be just as colorful as 64 years ago. A detachment of the 1st Batt, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry will act as honor guard; the Royal Canadian Engineer's Band from Chilliwack will play and the flag will flutter from the tall flagpole. A salute of 15 guns fired by a detachment from the 5th (B.C.) Medium Artillery Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery Militia, will mark the arrival of Lieutenant-Governor George R. Pearkes, who will be met by Premier W. A. C. Bennett at the foot of the stone stairs below the massive doors first opened on that February day in 1898. Within, the formalities of the legislative opening will take place with traditional ceremony. Immediately His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor retires, the third session of the 26th Legislative Assembly of British Columbia will commence.

As wife of the new Mayor of Victoria, Mrs. R. H. (Elizabeth) Wilson will be attending opening of the Legislative Assembly next Thursday, for the first time in an official capacity. Mayor and Mrs. Wilson will also be guests at the premier's afternoon reception and at a State Ball in Government House the same evening. (Photo by Irving Strickland.)

As wife of Hon. John H. Turner, Premier of British Columbia and minister of finance and agriculture in the Legislative Assembly in 1898, Elizabeth Turner would be an outstanding figure in those days at the turn of the century. (B.C. Archives photo.)

Blytha Pearkes, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, will be present on the floor of the House when her husband reads the Speech from the Throne on Thursday. With the Lieutenant-Governor Mrs. Pearkes will attend the reception to follow the opening and in the evening will be the charming chatelaine at Government House when the State Ball is held there. The lieutenant-governor's wife will also entertain at a number of parties while the assembly is in session.

IN STEP WITH STYLE

Capes, Scarf Stoles
Seen on Spring Coats

By NONA DAMASKE

NEW YORK — What are coats going to look like this spring?

They will be just a breath of weight, sheer wool, silk or linen, and often teamed with a dress. The silhouette will have a high-waisted look and will be flat in front and flared slightly in back. Many will be entirely collarless, but often these will have a companion scarf stole. Sleeves half-way up the forearm and armholes high and narrow. Cape effects are good style.

Are there changes in suit shapes? Two things will mark a suit as spring 1962, the low-placed skirt flare which allows greater freedom of motion and the armhole which grows smaller and higher. There is just a hint of more fit to the jacket but the easy, away-from-the-body look, is still far and away the leader.

If there's just one new dress ahead, what's best?

Full skirts are really making news here. Not stand-out crinolined skirts but full softly falling skirts over petticoats of matching shade and softness. There is absolutely no change in hem lengths. A few designers showed dresses that went up slightly on one side but you felt this was done merely for something different. More than ever co-ordinating pieces are important—dress and jacket, dress and coat, coat and skirt costumes. Some designers show a coat, skirt, dress and blouse made to be interchangeable. Wonderful travel idea. Complete dresslessness is "it" for summer.

The season's high fashion color? Many commentators referred to the azalea shades and anyone knowing the boundless brilliancy of these flowers can readily see it will be a gay color spectrum.

Color shown most frequently throughout the week was a delicate apricot. Softer in tone than tangerine it was called by many names, including apricot, marigold and orange ice. Are pointed toes on the wane?

Not by a long shot. But there are many oval and squared toes which broadens the choice when choosing new footwear.

Save Sewing Tips on Cards Or in Notebook

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

I have saved every article you have written in the paper and my stack of papers is getting out of hand. Please consider writing a book, but in the meantime, can you give me some ideas for saving these valuable tips?" Mrs. R.G.

Dear Mrs. R.G.:

I have had many suggestions from you readers about how you save the column for future reference. One of the best suggestions was to cut each question apart and paste it on a separate file card. These cards can be placed in a recipe file and the divider cards could be marked "sleeves," "hems," "alterations," etc. In this way, they are always at your finger tips.

DEAR ABBY...

Two Wrongs Don't Make a Right!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and have been married for three months. My husband works nights and I don't know what to do with myself so I go out with my girl friends. When we go out we meet all sorts of boys. I met a boy who is 23 and also married. He says he loves me and now I am all mixed up about my feelings for my husband. I know I am no good for cheating on my husband, but I don't have the will-power to stop. My husband doesn't suspect anything. I am afraid I married too young. Can you help me?

ALL MIXED UP

DEAR MIXED UP: You need more help than I can give you in a letter. If you don't have a clergyman, find one. He will put you on the right track if you accept his guidance. In the meantime, drop those girl friends and forget that 23-year-old "boy" who is obviously as mixed up as you are.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a young married couple who deliberately go out of their way to keep from having children because they "don't want to be bothered"? They are very frank in telling their friends that they enjoy their freedom and independence. When they are asked what they intend to do in their old age, they reply, "We'll spend our money on clothes and travel." I would like to know if you think this couple is cold and selfish because my husband and I are that couple. We fail to see any point in having children. They are nothing but hard work and misery.

BEING CAREFUL

DEAR BEING: Please continue to be "careful." Children born of such a union start life with a heavy burden.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "What can be done for the knees? My knees bulge out at the insides of my legs."

A. The shape of the knees is dictated mostly by bony structure, although overweight can handicap them with fatty deposits. Massage the spots you wish to reduce. Knead the flesh between your fingers and the palm of your hand. Also, try this exercise. Lie on the floor on your back. Bend both knees and place your feet flat on the floor. Separate the knees. Slap them together. Continue separating and slapping.

Q. "Is there such a thing as a good cosmetic oil to use on my neck?"

A. Any good lubricating cream or oil from any of the well-qualified firms will be helpful. The hormone creams and oils are especially effective.

Q. "Why don't you write something about people with diabetes? Please do not use medical terms—just plain language for people who are not familiar with medical terms."

A. Advice about diabetes should be given by a doctor. Ask your physician to explain the disease you have in terms you can understand—with simple, everyday words.

Q. "What can I do about flabby upper arms? Mine are not really fat—just flabby—and look terrible in swim suits or evening gowns."

A. Exercise is the answer. Such sports as tennis and badminton, swimming and golf are good. Also, do the following exercise. Stand tall. Take a book in each hand. Bend the elbows and touch the back of the neck with the books. Stretch the arms upward, palms facing. Now touch the books to the back of the neck again and then stretch the arms downward and back toward the floor. Touch the books to the back of the neck again and continue.

Q. "I am 14. I would like to know if I am old enough to shave my legs or use a hair remover."

A. Surely you are old enough! It is not so much a question of age as of whether the hair on your legs is really unsightly. Don't shave your legs unless you really need to—not just because other girls you know do.

From Athabaska

Mr. John (Jack) McMillan travelled to Victoria by air from Athabaska, Alta., to visit with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Russell McMillan of Glen Lake Road, Mr. McMillan plans to stay in Victoria indefinitely.

In Victoria

Mr. and Mrs. David Dion of Jackfish Lake, Sask., are visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Dion, of Spencer Road and family. Mr. and Mrs. Dion will be in Victoria for another week.

Dessert Party

Mrs. J. Carson was hostess at a dessert party in her home on Frechette Street on Thursday evening when guests were fellow members of the Women's Committee to the Victoria Symphony Orchestra. They included Mrs. Doreen Radcliff, Mrs. Vivian Moore, Mrs. C. R. Margison and Mrs. H. Busse. Plans were discussed for the 13th Annual Symphony Ball to be held in popular cabaret style at the Empress Hotel on February 16.

Reception

More than 1,000 guests were invited to attend a reception in the gym at the Gordon Head campus of Victoria College following the god-turning ceremony there this afternoon. Special guests were Mayor R. B. Wilson, the Hon. L. R. Peterson and His Honor Judge J. B. Clearhue. Spring flowers in the college's colors of blue and gold decorated the tables. In charge of arrangements were Mrs. Phoebe Noble and Dr. Ann Saddlemeyer. Miss Charlene Love, president of the college's service group, Miss Ellen Kimoto and other members acted as serveurs.

Co-Hostesses

Mrs. A. D. Soucek and Mrs. V. J. Madden were co-hostesses at a shower in the latter's Rockland Avenue home in honor of February bride-elect, Miss Myrna May. Mrs. Madden presented gifts from a basket decorated in mauve and yellow. Mrs. Ernest Fisher assisted Mrs. Soucek with serving. Bride-to-be received mauve and yellow carnations in corsage, and her mother, Mrs. L. R. May, red and cinnamon carnations. Mauve heather, white chrysanthemums and white candles formed table decor. Guests included Mrs. H. Ferguson, Mrs. J. Di Castri, Mrs. J. Clarke, Mrs. H. Ramsay, Mrs. G. Stark, Mrs. P. Trono, Mrs. B. Styles, Mrs. J. Thompson, Mrs. E. Bing, Mrs. W. D. Craig, Mrs. A. Williams, Mrs. T. Pepper, Mrs. R. Pringle, Mrs. N. Armond, Mrs. G. Belcher, Mrs. J. Speakman and the Misses Margaret Davis, Leila White, Lynn Craig, Peggy Thompson, Judy Appleton, Jeannie Belcher and Donna Madden.

Recent arrivals in Victoria are Dr. and Mrs. G. S. Wallace and their four young daughters. Seen, left to right, are Sheila, 5; Mrs. Wallace and four-month-old Julie; Catherine, 2, and seven-year-old Anne. Originally from the British Isles, the family spent four years in New Liskeard, Ont., before coming west. They are now making their home at 2856 Dewdney Avenue.

Bridge-Tea Draws Many Guests

Freezing temperatures and high winds were forgotten Friday afternoon and evening as hundreds of guests attended the world service bridge-tea of the YW division of the YWCA, held in the YWCA building on Blanshard Street. Sum of $250 was realized.

Guests were received by Mrs. A. H. Sheard, Mrs. A. F. McGill, Mrs. D. R. Abbott and Mrs. Phyllis Graveley. Mrs. Clyde Savage was general convenor with Mrs. George Wheaton assisting.

Presiding at the head table which was decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums and white candles in silver candelabra were Mrs. R. B. Wilson, Mrs. H. L. Keenleyside, Mrs. F. Bliss, Mrs. W. C. Mearns, Mrs. Margaret Harvey and Miss Elizabeth Forbes.

Servitors were Mrs. Norman Featherstone, Mrs. Gerald Inglis, Mrs. F. P. Levis, Mrs.

J. Beattie MacLean, Mrs. W. Davidson and Miss Ruby Rundle, Mrs. L. Gordon and Mrs. Stuart Morgan were in charge of tickets.

Bridge winners were Mrs. I. Hawkins, Mrs. G. F. Rose, Mrs. H. Tucker, Mrs. M. Gray, Mrs. A. Becker, Mrs. C. W. Avery, Harry Hawkins and R. E. Fugler.

Women Have Right to Work

Concern over criticism levelled at working women, particularly those who are married, was voiced by Miss Una MacLean, Calgary, president of Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs at a dinner meeting of the local club, held this week.

"Women should be commended for answering the need, especially in the rapidly expanding area in service producing industries in which most men are not qualified to work," the speaker said.

Women should not be denied opportunity to work because of prejudice or for any other reason, she added. "The right to work should surely be considered one of the basic freedoms enjoyed by every Canadian."

Concern of the national BPW Federation with lack of opportunity to advance in their work, was also discussed by the national president.

"Recent bank appointments of two women branch managers, has done more than any other single thing to emphasize that 'women's qualifications for such senior posts are equal to those of men,'" she explained.

Federation is not concerned with these questions for personal gain or prestige, Miss MacLean concluded. "We do not exist solely for the sake of existing, but to improve and elevate the status of women within the nation and to contribute to Canada's greatness. We represent a strong and stabilizing force for good, whose collective influence will expand steadily to a new dimension."

The speaker was introduced by national vice-president Miss Bess Forbes, and thanked by Mrs. Florence Barlow. Arrangements for the dinner were convayed by Mrs. Vera Wade, assisted by Miss Emily Warburton. President Miss Ruth Adams, was chairman.

Clinic Volunteers Honored at Party

One hundred and thirty guests attended a dessert party given by the Women's Auxiliary to the Cerebral Palsy Clinic on Wednesday evening in Newstead Hall to honor clinic volunteers.

Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, wife of the premier of British Columbia, was a special guest. Presiding at the head table were Alderman Lily Wilson and Mrs. Matthew Yole, president of the Jaycee-ettes.

Following the party, Mrs. Bennett presented service pins to volunteers with records of outstanding service.

Mrs. C. Wallace, Mrs. E. Bond and Mrs. M. Gould received pins for 1,000 hours' duty; Mrs. H. Boshier, Mrs. T. Holmes and Mrs. W. J. W. Cathro, 500 hours, and Mrs. G. Aaronson, Mrs. C. Rasmussen, Mrs. A. I. Isaacson, Mrs. A. Parker, Mrs. L. E. Gilham and Mrs. C. McCartney, 200 hours.

John Glenwright, clinic director, presented special awards from board of directors to those with 1,000 hours of service.

Mrs. W. M. Martin was re-elected president for a second term at annual meeting which followed. Other officers are Mrs. G. A. Spring, vice-president; Mrs. W. Pistell, treasurer, and Mrs. D. B. Ascott, recording secretary. Mrs. L. F. Dunn was appointed volunteer chairman for a second year. Mrs. Irene Warren installed the new officers.

An auxiliary cheque for $3,000 was presented to Mr. Glenwright by Mrs. Martin.

Try New Baby Powder For Complexion Care

By PENNY SAVER

Not many of us ever think of baby powder as a cosmetic to be used by adults. But it's an excellent after-bath dusting powder and is even recommended for tired and burning feet. Cool and soothing, the new baby powder I'm talking about contains no talc or other minerals. It's made from pure corn starch with added T-4—a non-irritating ingredient that acts as a skin purifier.

Although mother can use the powder to great advantage for herself, it's still tops for a baby, too. Nine-ounce container is selling for 69 cents.

There's a new skin medication on the market too! And the company that manufactures it must have been looking for a way to eliminate mess and fuss when they produced this medication in pad form. Pads are in a glass jar. Take one, rub over entire face, before retiring and after washing in the morning. It leaves an invisible film which continues to work between applications.

Another delightful feature is that make-up, or after-shave lotion, may be applied after using this medication. And here's the best part, jars containing 42 pads are only 98 cents.

When it comes to care of the legs, many women are now using their husbands' shaving lotion. But that really isn't necessary. A leading cosmetic manufacturer has produced a completely feminine shave cream that gives skin care as you shave.

Cream can be applied to wet or dry skin and, combined with a safety razor, will enable you to remove every hair in seconds—and without grease or goo! After shaving there's no need to rinse legs, just pat in any cream left on legs—it acts as a softener and prevents dryness. All this in a pre-surfurized six-ounce can is yours for $1.49.

Call me if you're interested in any of these items.

The Sounding Board

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Is there a doctor in the house?
As a matter of fact, there is.
And he is going to be called in—at least as a consultant?
Maybe.

Let every well-wisher hope so, anyway, for the patient is very sick indeed and seems likely to die before summer unless given the most expert treatment.

Would you like to know the patient's name so that you can pinpoint your prayers and positive thinking? Well, the languishing lady who daily loses a few more of her vital red blood corpuscles, is known as Victoria Centenary.

Victoria Centenary has had serious troubles since birth and it is probably too late now to convert her into the splendid, healthy specimen she should have been. But with prime professional help—and only that—she could still be given some degree of useful and effective life.

Only a family willfully blind of the mortal nature of a sickness or totally irresponsible, would fail to call on the best professional services for such a patient.

We Missed the Boat Last Time

So it is now with us. If we do not avail ourselves of the first class, trained and experienced help that is at the moment available we will only have ourselves to blame for a sick, sick summer season.

If our city had at any time established a reputation for being able to "go it alone" and come up with something really well organized and memorable in the way of a celebration, our officials might have been justified in wishing to keep the treatment in the family and shut the door to outsiders.

But we have only to recall the uninspired pedestrianism of the B.C. (1958) Centenary in the capital city to know that no such reputation exists.

What was needed from the beginning was professional guidance at the top to establish contacts and lay out a blueprint for action. This, with a compact, knowledgeable local committee struck for a 12-month period, could have resulted in definite accomplishment months ago. Infinitely more in fact and in a fraction of the time squandered in bouncing the ball about from person to person and committee to sub-committee.

It's Show-Biz Any Way You View It

"Surely we have enough ideas of our own," says one prominent citizen with a "tight-little-island" complex.

Surely, I agree, we have—or had. But parsimony, lack of imagination and lack of discernment as to what the public (and the tourists) really want, have shuffled a number of the most worthwhile into the limbo of the lost, or are in process of scuttling them in the waters off Banfield Park.

So let's stop looking for some new Joe to carry the ball through the scrimmage of inter-committee fumbling. What we must have at this 11th hour is a practical man to give shape and substance to what has been done and to develop the "show business" aspect, which no celebration, whether it be an anniversary or anything else, can afford to ignore. (Particularly when tourist bait is involved.)

A practical man, for this purpose, means a man with a thorough knowledge of all aspects of the professional entertainment world—a show-biz doctor.

There is a doctor in the house and the hour is late. Let's get on with it and call a consultation now.

BB (Worthwhile)
B (For Rainy Days)
C (Free-For-All)

(BB PLUS) "A FRENCH MISTRESS" (Odeon)—This English-made farce about a headmaster's one night of love up a mountain that is to cause a student's revolt at his school a quarter of a century later is a clever little thing from all points of the dramatic compass except one—the theme is far too slender to bear the weight of the film's 98-minute running time.

As the headmaster who breaks all precedent and protocol by hiring female French instructor Agnes Laurent after the male French instructor succumbs to the school's intolerable cooking, Cecil Parker is excellent, at one time completely in control and the next a complete fuddy-duddy as he discovers son Ian Bannister has fallen in love with Mademoiselle Laurent.

What causes Parker's consternation? He remembers his trust up the mountain as he learns that the new French mistress is the daughter of the gal with whom he trusted.

In fact each is good in his or her role, especially James Robertson Justice as a member of Parker's staff, Thorley Walters as chairman of the board of governors, Miss Laurent—who sometimes resembles a serious-faced Brigitte Bardot—and all the others.

Nonetheless, as stated before, the vehicle simply hasn't the toughness of body to sustain the weak spirit of the comedy itself.

WELCOME RETURN of The Caledonians, one of brightest highlights of the 1961 musical season in Victoria, has been announced by St. Andrews and Caledonian Society.

Their singing and dancing is in the finest Highland tradition and beautifully staged. The group will be at the Royal Theatre Feb. 8.

Finest Local Talent Plans Unique Recital

Music of Debussy and Saint Saens will be featured at the February concert of Victoria Musical Art Society. The uniquely interesting program is scheduled to take place at Oak Bay Junior High School, Feb. 7, at 8.30.

This will be, in effect a chamber music recital, as it will present duo pianists Rita Wallis and Margery Vaughan, vocal soloists Margaret Abbott and Marjorie Sturgeon, the Musical Art Madrigal Singers and raconteur Kenneth Bostock.

Principal works on the three-item program are to be Debussy's "Blessed Damoselle" and Saint Saens' "Carnival of Animals."

"Blessed Damoselle" is based on the poem by Dante Gabriel Rossetti and is written for two pianos, two solo voices and vocal ensemble with narrator.

The delightful verses of Ogden Nash, spoken by Mr. Bostock, will be used to accompany the "Carnival" in which the duo pianists and an orchestral ensemble will be heard.

Two of this city's finest pianists, Mrs. Wallis and Miss Vaughan, have in recent years specialized in duo piano work and have demonstrated a fine skill in the idiom on several occasions.

Mrs. Abbott recently reaffirmed her reputation as the possessor of a lovely soprano voice and superb musicianship in her December appearance with Victoria Symphony Orchestra.

Mezzo-soprano Mrs. Sturgeon, a "festival" Rose Bowl

MARJORIE STURGEON ... in Debussy work

winner a few years ago, has a richly beautiful voice that has gained her a wide reputation.

Raconteur Mr. Bostock is an experienced and imaginative actor, one of the really star talents of Victoria Theatre Guild.

leading desks of the Greater Victoria Schools Orchestra, and some of whom play in the adult symphony, rounds out a fine roster of talent.

Tape Binds Ballet Couple

MONTREAL (CP)—After a decade of being together 24 hours a day, ballet dancers David Adams and Lois Smith are bridging their trans-Atlantic separation by exchanging recorded chats.

Members of the National Ballet of Canada since its formation in 1951, the husband-and-wife team was separated when David was granted a year's leave of absence to dance with the London Festival Company. Lois is at present on tour with the Canadian company.

"We tell each other what's going on," Lois said. "Not important things—just little things we want to know. When I'm talking on the tape to David, I leave pauses occasionally where he can answer."

Then, when she plays his responses back on her own machine, "it seems as though he's right there in the room." Lois, mother of a 10-year-old daughter, says she's happy her husband is getting a chance to broaden his experience.

"If you stay too long with one company, you tend to get static. You need to get away not only to get different views but actually to see different dancers. When we are dancing with the National Ballet Company we seldom get a chance to see other companies perform."

Rodgers Music In Reminiscence

By JACK GAVEN
NEW YORK (UPI)—Admirers (and who isn't?) of the music of Richard Rodgers.

While waiting for his new Broadway show called "No Strings," can catch up with some of his old material, not previously available, on three new phonographic albums.

A third album of his famous background music for television's greatest and most displayed documentary, "Victory at Sea," has just been issued by RCA-Victor. This one, arranged and conducted by Robert Russell Bennett, as were the first two, contains previously unrecorded material from the beautiful 13-hour score Rodgers wrote for the series.

Even more interesting, especially to those whose memories of the musical theatre go back some 30 years, is a platter entitled "Rodgers and Hart Revisited," issued under the Spruce label and devised by stage producer Ben Bagley and Michael McWhinney.

This record presents 15 of the "unknown" songs from the many Rodgers and Hart musicals; that is, songs that, while lovingly remembered perhaps by genuine musical comedy buffs, never achieved great public recognition. And they are, believe me, lovely songs.

The recordings have been done by some remarkably talented persons—comedienne

Dorothy Loudon, Danny Mann, Charlotte Rae and Cy Young.

Just to give you an idea, among the songs is "I Must Love You" from "Chee-Chee," a rare flop by the collaborators, which they re-used under the title "Send for Me" (naturally with a new lyric) in the successful "Simple Simon" two years later.

LANGE IN "REPRIEVE"
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Burt Lange, son of Chicago clothing man George Byster, has been signed for a featured role in Allied Artists' "Reprieve."

Lange is the acting protégé of Agnes Moorehead.

Tryouts Planned For Shaw Comedy

Casting reading for George Bernard Shaw's comedy, "Pygmalion," will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in St. Matthias Hall, corner of Richardson and Richmond Road.

St. Matthias Little Theatre Society will welcome anyone interested in taking part in the production tentatively scheduled for early May.

Trombonist Dead

SOUTH THAMPTON, England (AP)—Claude Jones, 59, an Oklahoma country boy who became a famous jazz trombonist, died at sea Wednesday aboard the liner United States while working as a steward. Jones, in the prewar years, had played and recorded with several leading orchestras, but had given up professional music in recent years.

VETERAN HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Stuart Holmes, top villain of the silent screen, plays a jovial butler and egg man in a night club scene in "The George Raft Story." Holmes, now 73, started with Theda Bara and Pearl White and also is remembered for his performances in "The Scarlet Letter" and "The Prisoner of Zenda."

NEW YORK (UPI)—Julie Harris at 36 has created a gallery of stage, TV and screen portraits worthy of a Helen Hayes.

"People are always telling me I'm as versatile as Helen Hayes," said Miss Harris in her dressing room at the Booth Theatre where she is starring in "A Shot in the Dark." Offstage the blonde actress seems elfin and fragile, unlike the sexy, brassy heroine of the play, Josefa Latency.

"I don't exactly feel like Miss Hayes when I'm playing Josefa, but in some roles I do," she said. "Especially when I wore the original dress Miss Hayes wore in the jubilee scene in 'Victoria Regina.' I was thrilled when she sent it to me, but I thought if anything should happen to it, I'd spoken, amoral French housemaid she plays in 'A Shot in the Dark.' Josefa is found dead with a bullet in her hand alongside the dead body of her lover, a Spanish chauffeur, and Miss Harris bounces through the dramatic consequences with relish."

JULIE HARRIS ... shocked family

character—one of those people who say absolutely outrageous things, not to be funny but because they are honest. She is honest about love, too, just loving men for what they are without flirting and teasing."

Miss Harris, who thinks deeply about her characters, has discovered a link between the sexy Josefa and Joan of Arc, one of her most luminous stage portrayals ("The Lark"). Josefa and Joan, she points out, were both born French peasants but they turned out differently because Josefa's mother abandoned her and Joan's mother brought her up in a mystic piety.

"But they both gave themselves in love," she said simply. "Joan wanted to love God, Josefa prefers to make men happy."

Miss Harris feels the nearest role to Josefa she has done was the part of Sally Bowles in "I Am a Camera."

Acting the sophisticated, wanton Sally raised a peculiar problem for Miss Harris, the expensively schooled daughter of a very proper, socially prominent Grosse Pointe, Mich., family.

"I was so afraid of what my family would think when they saw me in 'Camera,' she confided. 'I thought they're going to be so shocked at some of the things I have to say, and I think they were—a little.'"

OAK VICTIM, HOUSE SURVIVES

Sturdy oak tree that stubbornly refused to bend before fury of storm was ignominiously uprooted, dumped on stone walls of residence of Mrs. Pearl

Bjornson, Tattersall Drive, with little damage: Oak was one of many trees, literally hundreds of branches dashed to ground during high winds.

Freezing Winds Rip City—More to Come

WIRE BRIEFS

'Boxcar' Crash Kills 5

HILL AIR FORCE BASE, Utah (AP)—A C-119 flying boxcar crashed and burned near here today, killing five crewmen and stranding wreck.

No Hope for Boys

CLEARFIELD, Pa. (AP)—Officials directing a seven-day search for two boys in an abandoned clay mine apparently gave up hope today that the boys will be found alive.

Guard Triggers Mine

BERLIN (AP)—An East German border guard accidentally detonated a land mine in the Communist "death strip" outside the border of Berlin today, Western police reported. The guard apparently was killed by the explosion.

Violence Alert

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI)—A government communique that two divisions will be pulled out of Algeria within the next 10 days despite the murderous wave of terrorism this month kept French security forces on the alert today for renewed violence.

Freezing winds slashing across the Victoria area in gusts up to 74 miles an hour Friday night shattered windows, lifted roofs, felled trees, and caused general discomfort as the temperature dropped to 21.5 above.

There'll be more of the same over the weekend, most likely longer, although winds are moderating to the 20 mile per hour range. Low temperatures tonight and high Sunday will be from 20 to 30 degrees.

The long-range, 30-day outlook of the United States weather bureau predicts continued below-normal temperatures for all of western Canada, including southern B.C.

Only injury during the windstorm Friday was to Gertrude Chitty, 77, of 3000 Carol Street, who suffered slight leg and face injuries when she was blown against a power pole.

WINDOWS SHATTERED

Several business establishments had plate glass windows blown in, including Standard Furniture, McLaren Electric, Foul Bay Safeway, Metropolitan Store, and Fernwood garage.

B.C. Electric power lines were cut in the Uplands, on Cedar Hill Cross Road near Redwood, on Torquay, and scattered areas at Ten Mile Point and between Langford and Colwood.

Phones were out in widely scattered areas, largely due to local interruptions caused by branches falling across lead-in wires.

Radio station CKDA went off the air at 8:32 p.m., when a 74-mile-per-hour gust knocked out its transmitter on Chatham Island. Due to high wind and seas, engineers delayed the trip to the island for repairs until dawn. The station resumed broadcasting at 6 a.m.

The winds were indirectly blamed for causing tiles to fall off a ceiling at Mount Douglas High School. Building experts explained the wind causes air pressures to build up between ceiling joists, loosening the tiles.

Roof damage was most severe in the Gordon Head-Ten Mile Point area, where roofing was stripped from the homes of Dr. Harry Morgan and Barrie Gault, both Smuggler's Cove residents.

From late afternoon to after midnight, winds rarely dropped below 40, with prolonged bursts at 60 common.

All of southwest B.C. was in the grip of the prolonged cold spell.

Vancouver had its coldest night in almost five years when the temperature dropped to 8.8 degrees above zero.

LONDON (Reuters)—A woman who tried to mail herself to the postmaster general in protest against current postal delays in Britain was told the post office no longer accepted human parcels.

Mrs. Gertrude Wood, protesting against the work-to-rule slowdown by postal workers to back pay demands, walked into a London post office Thursday with a large placard around her neck addressed to Postmaster-General Reginald Bevins at the House of Commons, but was turned away.

Conviction of former U.S. Teamster leader Dave Beck on charges of evading federal income taxes was reversed today by U.S. court of appeals in San Francisco. The charges were ordered to be retried.

HIT TREE

City Man Dies From Car Crash

A shattering crash on Shelbourne Street about midnight Friday resulted in the death today of a 31-year-old father of three.

Irwin Le Bus, an HMC Dockyard fireman of 1590 Mortimer, was the first traffic fatality of 1962 in the Greater Victoria area.

The victim's car crashed into a tree on Shelbourne near the intersection with Cedar Glen Road, and was wrecked.

Impact of the collision threw Mr. Le Bus halfway through the windshield and trapped him there. He was alone in the car at the time.

JAMMED TIGHT

It took four firemen and police armed with crowbars and other equipment to free the driver. Saanich police took him to Royal Jubilee Hospital with head injuries.

He died at 8:45.

Cause of the accident has not been determined.

Mr. Le Bus is survived at home by the widow, Ethel; two boys, Eddie, seven, and Billy, five; and a daughter, Sandra, who is just three.

Also surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Le Bus, Victoria; five brothers: Cyril of Victoria, George of the Antilles, Frank of Vancouver, and Douglas and Orrie, both of Victoria; three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Patterson, Mrs. Elva Bryant and Mrs. Agnes Poulsen, all of Victoria; and nieces and nephews.

A native of the city, Mr. Le Bus was a member of Columbia Lodge No. 2, IOOF, and Court Victoria, IOF.

Man Killed Near Nanaimo

One man was killed and another seriously injured in a two-car collision near Nanaimo late Friday night.

Dead is 32-year-old John Denham McLean, 490 Lambert Street, Nanaimo.

He died instantly when his car crashed into a car driver, by Ben Anderson, R.R. 2, Duncan.

Mr. Anderson was taken to Nanaimo General Hospital. His condition today is reported to be good.

The accident occurred at 11:15 p.m. on the Trans-Canada Highway about eight miles south of Nanaimo.

McLean was alone in his car and was travelling north when the smashup occurred, near Cassidy Airport.

Mr. Anderson, who was also travelling alone, was on his way to Duncan. Both men are married.

CONGO TROOPS FIRE AT UN PATROL PLANES

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—Marauding Congolese soldiers in northern Katanga today fired at two UN Indian jets sent to confirm reports they had slain a second group of Roman Catholic missionaries at Sola and ravaged the nearby native villages.

A UN spokesman said the Indian Canberra jets were on a reconnaissance flight in the Kongolo-Sola area when the hostile troops opened fire. When fired at, the planes were sweeping low over a column of troops marching toward Kongolo along the road from Kilubi. The jets were not hit and did not return the fire.

DEATH SCREAMS HEARD

5 Tots Burned At Alert Bay

The screams of five doomed children trapped in a burning home Friday night at Alert Bay could be heard by helpless bystanders over the roar and crackle of flames, witnesses reported today at the north coast community.

The tragedy might have been averted except for a misunderstanding which possibly meant the difference between life and death for the children.

CURFEW REVIVED

However, last Monday a children's curfew which had not been used for six months was revived, and Friday night only two of the 13 local volunteer firemen answered the fire call. The remaining men confused it with the curfew, and 10 minutes were wasted before the situation was straightened out.

RCMP have not yet released the names of the victims, since all next of kin have not yet been notified. Police said the children included a girl of 13 months and four boys ranging in age from six months to five years.

Addicts Suspected In Vancouver Holdup

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three men, two of them armed, held up a Vancouver wholesale jewelry firm today and escaped with diamonds and jewelry the proprietor said was worth between $20,000 and $30,000.

Thomas Hawken, proprietor of Hawken and Company, said the men wore stocking masks. One carried a sawed-off shotgun and another a pistol.

He said one man kept repeating: "I need a fix"—apparently meaning narcotics.

Police in a recent crackdown on the narcotics racket here arrested a total of 34 suspected traffickers. Addicts here were described as worried about getting supplies, even at an increased price.

Police said all three of the men were between 20 and 23 years of age and sent out a city-wide alarm for them.

The operator of a cigar stand at the entrance to the building where the wholesale jewelry establishment is located on the third floor told police three men ran from the building carrying a white bag.

Official results in the tightly contested Toronto Eglington riding, released Friday night, placed the victory of Progressive Conservative Leonard Reilly in doubt.

Reilly's margin of 183 votes over Liberal standard bearer Mrs. Jean Newman, a former Toronto alderman, was slashed to 38.

Final figures for the contest were: Reilly, 11,366; Mrs. Newman, 11,328; and Eamon Martin, New Democratic candidate, 2,695.

Gordon Edick, campaign manager for Mrs. Newman, said he had no doubt a recount would bring Eglington into the Liberal camp. "There are 204 polls and 38 votes is not too much to catch up on," he said.

Travel Curbs Enforced

LONDON (AP)—An emergency supply of 400,000 doses of smallpox vaccine arrived today from the United States as eight European nations put Britain under a virtual quarantine.

The disease, brought into the country by Pakistani immigrants in late December and early January, has killed six persons.

Persons leaving Britain were advised by the health ministry that they must have proof of recent vaccination in order to enter Turkey, Cyprus, Spain, Italy, Germany, Austria, Finland and Sweden.

British contestants in the annual Monte Carlo automobile rally were told before leaving Glasgow that they must be vaccinated in order to enter France.

The vaccine, in dried form, arrived in five cardboard cartons aboard an Air India jetliner. Another 100,000 doses are due Sunday.

A health ministry spokesman said so far there is no shortage of vaccine in Britain "but the additional supplies were ordered as a precaution."

Tens of thousands of Britons have lined up at medical centres for vaccination in London, Leeds, Bradford, Cardiff and other cities where confirmed or suspected smallpox cases have turned up.

Canada Takes Precautions

OTTAWA (UPI)—A health department spokesman said today there was no indication that the smallpox outbreak in Western Europe had been carried to Canada.

Dr. W. H. Frost, head of the departments' quarantine and immigration services, said, however, that the government had taken special precautions in view of the outbreak.

270 Deaths In Pakistan

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI)—Eight more smallpox victims died Friday, raising Pakistan's official toll to more than 270 deaths from the disease.

Another 24 cases were admitted to hospitals. Karachi police had to put 10 of them in hospital forcibly when they refused to go voluntarily.

The army continued its compulsory vaccination and isolation drive, and said the public was co-operating better in the campaign against the epidemic.

Centennial Flashback...

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

JANUARY 20

Julius Weymuss, a colored graduate of the chain gang, was arrested for selling a home-made liquor known as tangle-leg to Indians in the Songish village. Weymuss had recently married a Songish woman, moved into the village, and sold tangle-leg to his heart's content until caught in the act. He was pummeled somewhat by two officers as he showed signs of resisting arrest.

The theatrical company which has been occupying the Victoria Theatre with a noticeable lack of financial success left for New Westminster in an effort to better its luck.

Two new stoves were installed in the Supreme Court room.

At long last, the weather moderated enough to start snow and ice melting, but was followed by a gale of wind.

Campaign Hits Triumphant Climax

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
The long campaign to build a stately old people's home overlooking Victoria Harbor ended on a note of triumph today when Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes laid the cornerstone of the Salvation Army's Matson Sunset Lodge at 847 Dunsmuir.

With completion of the residence next May, more than 2,000 elderly citizens across Canada will be cared for by the Salvation Army—and 140 of them will take up residence in the $900,000 Matson Sunset Lodge.

Brilliant sunshine, contrasting with the searching, biting cold, smiled on the stone-laying ceremony attended by high officials of the Salvation Army, civic dignitaries and representatives of the armed services.

'To God, Service'

The grey cornerstone laid by Mr. Pearkes at the entrance to the building is inscribed to 'the glory of God and the Service of Mankind.'

"I congratulate you on a splendid achievement," the governor said.

The ceremony, held in what will be one of the spacious rooms, followed a typical Salvation Army service beginning with the hymn:

"Christ is our cornerstone On Him alone we build."

Commissioner Wycliffe Booth, territorial commander for Canada, who was introduced to the gathering by Brigadier Cliff Milley of Victoria, announced that Brig. and Mrs. Victor Underhill of Vancouver will be in charge of the new Matson Sunset Lodge.

21 Others Exist

He said Canada is becoming "increasingly conscious" of the needs of its older citizens.

"We believe the Salvation Army has a special responsibility in making their sunset years happy."

Commissioner Booth said 21 homes similar to Matson Lodge are now operated by the Salvation Army across Canada.

The largest of these is the Arthur Melghen Home in Toronto which has 163 residents.

"In B.C. we have a very special responsibility," he said, "since more than 34,000 of the people of this great province are over 65 years of age."

"We now have six homes in which more than 100 old people are accommodated."

'Sociable Living'

In an interview Commissioner Booth said the Salvation Army homes are specially designed to promote "sociable living" in that the residents have to pass through the recreation rooms to reach the dining room.

"This is very desirable as elderly persons sometimes tend to keep to themselves," he said.

Many of the Victoria citizens who helped the Salvation Army to raise $245,000 for the new Matson Lodge—and over-shoot the target by more than $18,000—attended the ceremony.

They included Times publisher Stuart Keate who was chairman of the campaign, and Mrs. Alvina "Penny" Campbell who recruited and directed 500 women in a residential canvass.

Ex-Mayor and Mrs. Percy Scurrah also attended.

Prayers were offered by Brig. Arnold Brown, the Salvation Army's special efforts secretary in Toronto; Mrs. Commissioner Booth gave a scripture reading, and the hymn singing was led by the Victoria Citadel Band.

The trowel used by Mr. Pearkes in laying the stone was presented to him by John

Wade of the firm of Wade, Stockhill & Armour, who designed the building.

Residents of the old Sunset Lodge at 952 Arm Street were prevented from attending the ceremony by the severe cold.

Applications for residence in the new home will be considered by Brigadier and Mrs. Underhill towards the end of February.

Woman Saved As Home Burns

Husband Found Amid Flames

Esquimalt firemen rescued a woman from the second floor of her home late Friday night when fire broke out on the floor below.

The blaze caused $2,000 damage to the 1208 Lyall Street home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Miller.

Mrs. Miller was saved by firemen and Mr. Miller is reported in fair condition in the Royal Jubilee Hospital today with third-degree burns to the upper part of his body.

Mrs. Miller was admitted to the same hospital suffering shock. She is in fairly good condition.

Firemen were called to the Miller home—just a block and a half from the station—at about 11:20 p.m.

They found Mr. Miller, aged about 50, in the living room where a chestfield and the surrounding area were ablaze.

Mrs. Miller was trapped upstairs, Chief Gilbert Stancombe said. Firemen rescued her through a window.

CITY TO SEND SIGN BILL TO COLLEGE

The recent centennial sign escapade may cost Victoria College or the student Alma Mater Society close to $50.

The bill, sent by the city, will be for cost of re-erecting the sign after its recovery Friday at the college, not for damage.

Police and city officials who have seen the sign, under lock and key, say there is no damage to the paint and gold leaf surface.

The four-by-eight-foot board was taken Wednesday at about 2 p.m. from over the main entrance to City Hall by five men pretending to be city employees.

It was discovered on a college building early Friday and the men responsible are believed to be students although no official confirmation of this has, or is likely, to be forthcoming.

Less than a week and politics are in season: the legislative session opens Thursday.

Here are some questions for 1962, leftovers from the 1961 session:

What says the special survey into gasoline and oil prices? Promised by Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan in answer to protests about the gas tax boost last year, the survey is complete and may suggest a way to equalize prices which fluctuate like the mercury across the province.

Are there changes in the Liquor Act to provide equal privileges for Indians? Attorney-General Robert Bonner promised to try at the last session.

Where is Victoria's new mental hospital? It was given top priority by Premier Bennett last year.

Will there be more labor legislation, as threatened by Labor Minister Leslie Peterson at the climax of all-night debate on the checkoff law?

Where is the royal commission on the Workmen's Compensation Act, as Mr. Peterson promised in '61?

Has the government really subsidized the PGE Railway for $5,000,000 after enabling legislation last year?

Add one new prediction to those already listed here at year's end for new legislation: a full revision of the Securities Act.

This was to be done last year, but entanglement with other laws such as the Companies Act forced postponement.

However, everything's set this year, and the new act will be patterned on Ontario's legislation, although it won't be as elaborate. It will, however, have considerable impact on the business world, and some of its fringe operators.

It probably will entail fuller disclosure of all background details involved in stock promotion schemes.

It may also include a safeguard for people who fall for high-pressure spiels by telephone stock salesmen.

Has Premier Bennett suddenly lost interest in the Columbia River?

He and Finance Minister Donald Fleming are supposed to be doing their damndest to get together on the subject.

But the premier says no dates have been set for a meeting, despite Mr. Fleming's request for one.

"The matter is . . . uh . . . under consideration," says Mr. Bennett.

The premier had hoped for a meeting in Toronto last weekend; but Mr. Fleming told him he couldn't make it.

However, a spy reports they both stayed in the same hotel that weekend (unbeknownst?).

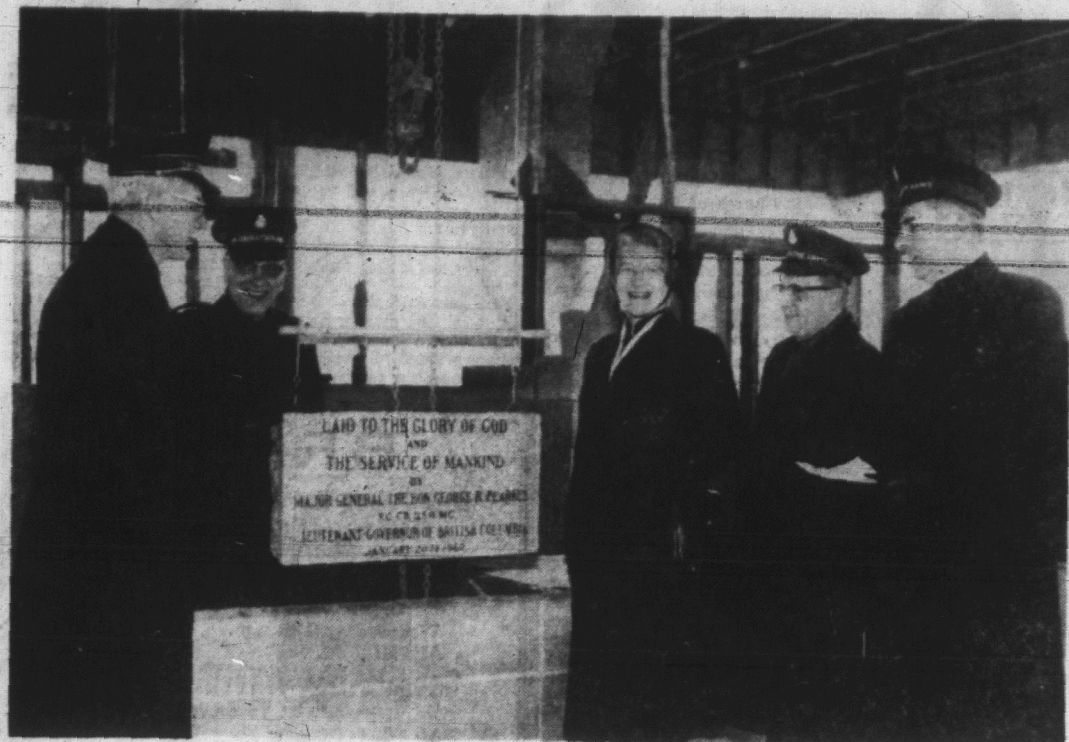

Mr. Fleming was there for a Tory 75th birthday whoopee; Mr. Bennett on undisclosed "government business."

Some of that government business of Mr. Bennett's, according to another agent, was in fact to secure Ottawa out of its blunt stand on ferry subsidies.

The premier would like to have his cake—the full subsidy on new ferries and engines—and eat it, by awarding the engine contract to the low bidder from Britain, Kuston and Hornsby. Ottawa insists on a Canadian engine in order to qualify for the full 40 per cent subsidy.

Although it's only a million-dollar contract, the issue has serious repercussions, for it affects the whole currently-tough Canada U.K. trade relationship.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker promised his government would switch 15 per cent of its trade from the U.S. to Britain, but you don't woo British trade by insisting on made-in-Canada goods.

'CHRIST IS OUR CORNERSTONE'

MONTE ROBERTS

The Board of Directors of the Old Jokes' Home held an emergency meeting Friday night.

The meeting was held at the request—nay, the demand—of more than a dozen constituents who took umbrage at a decision of the board with respect to the aged and infirm "furry" joke.

The one about the furry with the singe on top, remember?

The Board of Directors refused the "furry" joke admittance to the Spoonerized Fur wing of the Old Jokes' Home, on the grounds that "furry with a singe on top" is not a true Spoonerized Pun.

The directors pointed out that one of the "f's" in "Surrey with a Fringe on top" became lost in the "furry" joke, thus disqualifying it for membership.

Well, since this was duly reported in this space last Monday, supporters of this old joke have been buzzing around me like wolves hounding a wounded deer.

They claim that the joke's case was not accurately presented to the Board of Directors, and that this is all my fault.

For my part, I am willing to accept part of the blame, but must share it with the anonymous gentleman in the Hotel Douglas sarsaparilla dispensary who asked me to present the joke to the board.

But enough of shifting responsibility. To make amends, I called the emergency meeting aforementioned and, arising on a point of privilege, presented the "furry" joke in amended form:

The furry in question, see, instead of a hat, was wearing a long metal tube with a rubber ball on the end of it. Thus making him the furry-with-a syringe on top.

You will be glad to know the Board of Directors admitted the joke in its new form. They then resigned; I cannot figure out why.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A special centennial trading coin will be put into circulation April 21 throughout Vancouver Island by the Victoria Kiwanis Club.

Made of bronze, with a value of $1, it will be honored by merchants participating in the scheme and redeemable at face value at any Kiwanis Club office.

Although it will be a trading coin, club officials expect a great number to be bought by coin collectors and souvenir hunters before they are withdrawn from circulation Oct. 31.

Capital City Branch of the Color Photographic Association of Canada, will meet on Monday at 8 p.m. at the residence of Alex Gray, 1507 Athol Drive.

Slides of Australia and New Zealand will be shown.

A new co-ordinator for Victoria's centennial celebrations to replace Archie Wills will be chosen from 12 applicants Monday morning.

The choice will be made at a meeting of city representatives and the Centennial Committee at 9:30 a.m.

The regular weekly meeting of the committee will follow.

A handy cold weather tip was phoned into the Times today by Victor Standerwick, 1025 Bay.

If the furnace seems to be working without producing much heat cover about two-thirds of the cold air intake inside the house.

This will lessen the amount of cold air taken in by the furnace and result in the delivery of hot instead of just mildly warm air.

NADEN BARRACK BLOCK WORK TO START SOON

Commonwealth Construction Co. of Vancouver will soon start work on a 100-man barrack block at HMCS Naden. R. H. Ansley, vice-president of the company, said today.

Work will take about six months, and will be started as soon as official contract is signed, he said.

The new building, to cost about $473,000, will be situated close to the Nelles Block, the present barracks for sailors who live in HMCS Naden.

Commonwealth also built the Nelles Block. One of its most recent construction jobs in Victoria was the B.C. Electric Building.

Reason for the new quarters is the recently authorized expansion of the armed forces. The army garrison at Work Point has also asked for a 180-man barrack block as they expand to full establishment, and it is understood Defence Construction Ltd. has called tenders.

SOD-TURNING CEREMONY

'Monetary Liquid' Needed by College

Citizens of Greater Victoria today were charged with the duty of seeing that their new university did not "wither and die" for want of "monetary liquid."

Judge J. B. Clearihue, chairman of the college council, said in a speech prepared for delivery at the sod-turning ceremony on the new campus of Victoria College, the university belonged to Victorians for the benefit of their children.

"I would remind the citizens of Greater Victoria that every sod dug out of the earth, unless watered and cared for will wither and die, he said.

"And so it is that when I dig out our symbolic sod, it too will wither and die unless it is watered and cared for over a period of many years by the citizens of Greater Victoria with monetary liquid with a golden hue.

The turning of the first sod marks the beginning of a $5 million development program.

This afternoon's ceremony was attended by college, civic, and provincial officials as well as by students and friends of the college.

At a reception following the sod-turning itself, demonstrations by the Students' Council, the University Development Board, the Alumni Association, and a number of faculties were on view.

Other speakers were Mayor R. B. Wilson, chairman of the University Development Board and Education Minister Leslie Peterson. Guests were welcomed by college principal, Dr. W. H. Hickman.

Gulf of Georgia's Log Race Set to Finish at Ogden Point

Vancouver to Victoria will be the course for this year's Gulf of Georgia predicted log race, a top-rated cruiser event to be held April 28.

The finish will be off the Ogden Point jetty and later the cruisers will berth in the Inner Harbor.

FOR CENTENARY

Officials of the race committee said today the course and date were set at a meeting this week. Four possible courses were studied but Victoria was chosen as the finishing point to coincide with the capital's centennial year celebrations.

A total of 46 boats entered the 1961 race and more are expected this year.

Clubs to be represented will include the Royal City Yacht Club of New Westminster, the Burrard Yacht Club, the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, the Na-naimo Yacht Club and the West Vancouver Yacht Club.

Both the 1960 and 1961 races were won by Burrard's Ralph Maddison, 1962 chairman of the Gulf of Georgia Race com-

BONNER STUDY REVEALS

No Cause or Cure In Hunting Deaths

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today a study of hunting deaths by his department "doesn't give much clue" how to avoid them.

The study was launched last December after a number of inquests queried the cause and prevention of fatal accidents. There were four hunting deaths on Vancouver Island late last year.

Mr. Bonner said he does not agree that an automatic charge should be laid against a hunter who shoots someone.

"That should be done only in the presence of proper evidence," he said.

"But the study was to ensure we are alert to the necessity of prosecuting in some cases and not dismissing them as unfortunate accidents."

One prosecution has been launched since—an 18-year-old youth involved in a shooting near Alberni was charged with criminal negligence.

"An interesting common denominator in these accidents was that they were not the responsibility of inexperienced people," Mr. Bonner said. "Not in any case was it somebody out for the first time."

FIRST 1962 TRAFFIC DEATH

FINAL BULLETINS

5 Crewmen Die in 'Boxcar' Crash

3 Children Killed in Ontario Fire

KARS, Ont. (CP)—Three children were burned to death today when fire destroyed a small frame bungalow near this community, 20 miles south of Ottawa.

Red Photo Plane Crashes in Italy

BARI, Italy (AP)—A Bulgarian MiG-19 jet fighter crashed tonight near this southern Italian coastal town, across the Adriatic Sea from Communist Albania. Police said the Russian-built plane was fully armed and carried high-altitude photography equipment.

Farmer Saves Children From Flames

MATSQUI, B.C. (CP)—A farmer ran from his milking chores in his barn early today and rescued his two children from his flaming home after the alarm was given by a neighbor. The fire burned the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Dewitt to the ground.

FBI Agents Break Up Gambling Ring

READING, Pa. (AP)—Using sledgehammers and armed with automatic weapons, more than 100 FBI agents smashed into a downtown building today breaking up what they described as one of the largest gambling operations in the eastern United States.

DEATH SCREAMS HEARD

5 Tots Burned At Alert Bay

The screams of five doomed children trapped in a burning home Friday night at Alert Bay could be heard by helpless bystanders over the roar and crackle of flames, witnesses reported today at the north coast community.

The tragedy might have been averted except for a misunderstanding which possibly meant the difference between life and death for the children.

CURFEW REVIVED

However, last Monday a children's curfew which had not been used for six months was revived, and Friday night only

New Hopes For Liberal Recount Win

TORONTO (UPI)—Ontario Liberal hopes of adding more glitter to their 32 upset of the ruling Conservative hierarchy in Thursday's five-riding byelection test soared today.

Official results in the tightly contested Toronto-Eglinton riding, released Friday night, placed the victory of Progressive Conservative Leonard Reilly in doubt. Reilly's margin of 183 votes over Liberal standard bearer Mrs. Jean Newman, a former Toronto alderman, was slashed to 38.

Final figures for the contest were: Reilly, 11,366; Mrs. Newman, 11,328; and Eamon Martin, New Democratic candidate, 2,695.

Gordon Edick, campaign manager for Mrs. Newman, said he had no doubt a recount would bring Eglinton into the Liberal camp. "There are 204 polls and 38 votes is not too much to catch up on," he said.

Freezing Winds Rip City—More to Come

Freezing winds slashing across the Victoria area in gusts up to 74 miles an hour Friday night shattered windows, lifted roofs, felled trees, and caused general discomfort as the temperature dropped to 21.5 above.

There'll be more of the same over the weekend, most likely longer, although winds are moderating to the 20 mile per hour range. Low temperatures tonight and high Sunday will be from 20 to 30 degrees.

The long-range, 30-day outlook of the United States weather bureau predicts continued below-normal temperatures for all of western Canada, including southern B.C.

Only injury during the wind storm Friday was to Gertrude Chitty, 77, of 3000 Carol Street, who suffered slight leg and face injuries when she was blown against a power pole.

WINDOWS SHATTERED

B.C. Electric power lines were cut in the Uplands, on Cedar Hill Cross Road near Redwood, on Torquay, and scattered areas at Ten Mile Point and between Langford and Colwood.

Phones were out in widely scattered areas, largely due to local interruptions caused by branches falling across lead-in wires.

Radio station CKDA went off the air at 8:32 p.m., when a 74-mile-per-hour gust knocked out its transmitter on Chatham Island. Due to high wind and seas, engineers delayed the trip to the island for repairs until dawn. The station resumed broadcasting at 6 a.m.

The winds were indirectly blamed for causing tiles to fall off a ceiling at Mount Douglas High School. Building experts explained the wind causes air pressures to build up between ceiling joists, loosening the tiles.

Roof damage was most severe in the Gordon Head-Ten Mile Point area, where roofing was stripped from the homes of Dr. Harry Morgan and Barrie Gault, both Smuggler's Cove residents.

From late afternoon to after midnight, winds rarely dropped below 40, with prolonged bursts at 60 common.

All of southwest B.C. was in the grip of the prolonged cold spell.

Vancouver had its coldest night in almost five years when the temperature dropped to 8.8 degrees above zero.

Dockyard Man Trapped in Car

A shattering crash on Shelbourne Street about midnight Friday resulted in the death today of a 31-year-old father of three.

Irwin Le Bus, an HMC Dockyard fireman of 1590 Mortimer, was the first traffic fatality of 1962 in the Greater Victoria area.

The victim's car crashed into a tree on Shelbourne near the intersection with Cedar Glen Road, and was wrecked.

Impact of the collision threw Mr. Le Bus halfway through the windshield and trapped him there. He was alone in the car at the time.

JAMMED TIGHT

It took four firemen and police armed with crowbars and other equipment to free the driver. Saanich police took him to Royal Jubilee Hospital with head injuries.

He died at 8:45.

Cause of the accident has not been determined.

Mr. Le Bus is survived at home by the widow, Ethel, two boys, Eddie, seven, and Billy, five; and a daughter, Sandra, who is just three.

Also surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Le Bus, Victoria; five brothers: Cyril of Victoria, George of the Antilles, Frank of Vancouver, and Douglas and Orrie, both of Victoria; three sisters: Mrs. Margaret Patterson, Mrs. Elva Bryant and Mrs. Agnes Poulsen, all of Victoria; and nieces and nephews.

A native of the city, Mr. Le Bus was a member of Columbia Lodge No. 2, IOOF, and Court Victoria, IOF.

Man Killed Near Nanaimo

One man was killed and another seriously injured in a two-car collision near Nanaimo late Friday night.

Dead is 32-year-old John Denham McLean, 480 Lambert Street, Nanaimo.

He died instantly when his car crashed into a car driven by Ben Anderson, R.R. 2, Duncan.

Mr. Anderson was taken to Nanaimo General Hospital. His condition today is reported to be good.

The accident occurred at 11:15 p.m. on the Trans-Canada Highway about eight miles south of Nanaimo.

McLean was alone in his car and was travelling north when the smashup occurred, near Cassidy Airport.

Mr. Anderson, who was also travelling alone, was on his way to Duncan. Both men are married.

Addicts Suspected In Vancouver Holdup

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three men, two of them armed, held up a Vancouver wholesale jewelry firm today and escaped with diamonds and jewelry the proprietor said was worth between $20,000 and $30,000.

Thomas Hawken, proprietor of Hawken and Company, said the men wore stocking masks. One carried a sawed-off shotgun and another a pistol.

He said one man kept repeating: "I need a fix"—apparently meaning narcotics.

Police in a recent crackdown on the narcotics racket here arrested a total of 34 suspected traffickers. Addicts here were described as worried about getting supplies, even at an increased price.

Police said all three of the men were between 20 and 23 years of age and sent out a city-wide alarm for them.

The operator of a cigar stand at the entrance to the building where the wholesale jewelry establishment is located on the third floor told police three men ran from the building carrying a white bag.

Guard Triggers Mine

BERLIN (AP)—An East German border guard accidentally detonated a land mine in the Communist "death strip" outside the border of Berlin today, Western police reported. The guard apparently was killed by the explosion.

Vaccine Rushed To U.K.

LONDON (AP)—An emergency supply of 400,000 doses of smallpox vaccine arrived today from the United States as eight European nations put Britain under a virtual quarantine.

The disease, brought into the country by Pakistani immigrants in late December and early January, has killed six persons.

Persons leaving Britain were advised by the health ministry that they must have proof of recent vaccination in order to enter Turkey, Cyprus, Spain, Italy, Germany, Austria, Finland and Sweden.

British contestants in the annual Monte Carlo automobile rally were told before leaving Glasgow that they must be vaccinated in order to enter France.

The vaccine, in dried form, arrived in five cardboard cartons aboard an Air India jetliner. Another 100,000 doses are due Sunday.

A health ministry spokesman said so far there is no shortage of vaccine in Britain "but the additional supplies were ordered as a precaution."

Tens of thousands of Britons have lined up at medical centres for vaccination in London, Leeds, Bradford, Cardiff and other cities where confirmed or suspected smallpox cases have turned up.

Canada Takes Precautions

OTTAWA (UPI)—A health department spokesman said today there was no indication that the smallpox outbreak in Western Europe had been carried to Canada.

Dr. W. H. Frost, head of the departments' quarantine and immigration services, said, however, that the government had taken special precautions in view of the outbreak.

270 Deaths

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI)—Eight more smallpox victims died Friday, raising Pakistan's official toll to more than 270 deaths from the disease.

Another 24 cases were admitted to hospitals. Karachi police had to put 10 of them in hospital forcibly when they refused to go voluntarily.

The army continued its compulsory vaccination and isolation drive, and said the public was co-operating better in the campaign against the epidemic.

DUESSELDORF (Reuters)—The first death in the current West German smallpox outbreak occurred today—a 55-year-old nurse who had been tending three cases in an isolation hospital. City authorities said she had been vaccinated, but they did not say when.

CONGO TROOPS FIRE AT UN PATROL PLANES

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—Marauding Congolese soldiers in northern Katanga today fired at two UN Indian jets sent to confirm reports they had slain a second group of Roman Catholic missionaries at Soia and ravaged the nearby native villages.

A UN spokesman said the Indian Canberra jets were on a reconnaissance flight in the Katanga-Solia area when the hostile troops opened fire. When fired at, the planes were sweeping low over a column of troops marching toward Katanga along the road from Kilubi. The jets were not hit and did not return the fire.
